GRAND JURY ON GRAFT HUNT IN CITY HALL

Examines Street Department Lists and Questions Many Team Owners.

SIXTY MEN ARE LET OUT

Commissioner Travilla Says Too Much Money Was Being Spent.

WOMAN AS WITNESS

Says Her Teams Worked Always When They Were Paid.

The grand jury has under investigation the payrolls of several city departments, and is giving special attention to what is known in the Auditor's office as the wood and stone block payroll of the Street Department.

The investigation is the result of the charge by Street Commissioner Travilla of about 60 men, including superintendents, inspectors and overseers, whose services he considered unnecessary. The Street Commissioner has discharged these men since he went into office May 8. He said the cleaning of the wood and stone streets was costing the city too much money for the service rendered.

Circuit Attorney Sager and Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnson went to the City Auditor's office Monday and obtained from Deputy John Faudi a copy of the wood and stone block payroll.

Witnesses Examined.

The grand jury was in session until 11 p. m. Tuesday, examining witnesses called before it as the result of examination of the payroll by Sager and Johnson.

Among the witnesses before the grand jury Tuesday night are said to have been several team owners. James Berry, who was a witness in the Egan murder case at the Four Courts, was subpenaed to appear before the grand jury in connection with the Street Department investigation. Mrs. J. Daneri and her daughter, Miss J. Daneri, were two of the witnesses examined. Mrs. Daneri said that she owned no teams, but Miss Daneri said that she owned several teams that had been used in the Street Department. She insisted that the teams worked every day that she was paid for their services.

Street Commissioner Travilla told a Post-Dispatch reporter that while he had not taken the initiative in asking for an investigation, yet he courted the fullest inquiry into the affairs of his office by the grand jury.

He said he had discharged the 60 inspectors, superintendents and overseers because the city was paying out too much money in certain departments of the street service.

Inspectors Sent For.

He said that one of his inspectors had been subpenaed to appear before the grand jury, but declined to give his name.

Some time ago, the Street Commissioner said, he instructed all superintendents not to work any of their own teams, or permit any of their employes to work their own teams in the street department. He said that payrolls could only be padded by collusion between superintendents, overseers, inspectors and outsiders.

The grand jury will be in session Wednesday afternoon, but will make a report Thursday preparatory to the summer recess.

CLERK AND STENOGRAPHER GONE

Wife Asks Police to Find Her Missing Husband.

Mrs. Annabel Wilson, 32 years old, of 3000 Pine street, has asked the police to help her find her husband, Frank Wilson, whom she has not seen since May 7 when he took a train at the Union Station, as she thought to go to Leeper, Mo., to accept a position. She believes now that he went to Chicago.

Wilson was a clerk in the voucher office of the Missouri Pacific railroad. He had been married about 15 years and until last September had lived with his wife at Parsons, Kan. She joined him at St. Louis in November. She told the police Wednesday morning that a stenographer, with whom Wilson was acquainted, had left St. Louis about the same time.

CANNOT FIND THE FORD GIRL

Case Against Father Goes Over and Police Send Out Alarm.

The unexplained absence of 13-year-old Katie Ford caused the preliminary hearing of a case against her father, John Ford of 2211 North Broadway, on a charge brought by her to be continued Wednesday in the Court of General Sessions to June 26, and the police were asked to make every effort to find the girl, who disappeared Tuesday.

John Perkerni, aged 25, of 1339 Park avenue, is at his home suffering with heat prostration. He became unconscious while standing at Twelfth street and Park avenue Tuesday.

Joseph Gill, a street cleaner, was overcome by the heat at 10 a. m. Wednesday while working at Twenty-second and Pine streets. He was taken to the City Hospital, where his condition was pronounced not serious. Gill is 28 years old, single and lives at 1927 Biddle street.

FIGHT ENDED DESIRE TO REWED HIS FORMER WIFE

Joseph Thomas Eli Robert Renfrow Says Woman Was Cool During Combat.

Joseph Thomas Eli Robert Renfrow's desire to remarry his former wife, Emma McQueen Renfrow, who divorced him two years ago, was effectually cured by her indifference when he was hit on the head in a fight about her on a river excursion Tuesday. He is at the City Hospital with several scalp wounds.

Renfrow was married ten years ago, and left his wife and two children two years ago. She obtained a divorce soon afterward. He did not contest the suit, but set out on a series of wanderings. Returning a week ago to Moberly, Renfrow learned his former wife was in St. Louis and he came here. He found her Tuesday at 802 Carr street and says they agreed to remarry Saturday and return to Moberly. Tuesday afternoon they went on a river excursion, and Renfrow says Claude McQueen, brother of Mrs. Renfrow, attacked him.

Renfrow does not know whether it was McQueen or a private officer on the boat who hit him. The last thing he remembers is seeing his former wife walk away as the scuffle started.

Renfrow is 32 years old and his former wife is 28.

INJURED GIRL DROWNED IN LAKE; ESCORT FOUND IN BED

George Evans Fails to Reveal Mary Vennell's Death Before Finding of Body.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BRIDGETON, N. J., June 19.—Investigation is being made of the drowning in Sunset Lake last night of Miss Mary Vennell, whose body was found in shoal water today, the face and body showing cuts and bruises.

Last night the girl went rowing with George Evans. Later their boat was found filled with water and Evans was located in bed at home, his wet clothing hanging over a chair.

His explanation was that in changing their positions the boat sank under them. Evans said he had great difficulty in freeing himself from his companion, who, he said, was screaming for help, while she held him tightly about the neck.

They had gone down twice, Evans said, when he freed himself and swam ashore. He had told no one of the drowning of the girl.

JURY HEARS 6 EX-CONVICTS; ACQUITS EGAN

Finds Verdict of Not Guilty on Their Stories of Gagel's Threats.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

Recollections of Boyhood Days Prompted Men in Prison to Warn Defendant.

Thomas Egan was acquitted of killing William Gagel by a jury that listened to six reformed convicts tell in Judge Sale's court, Tuesday, how they were inspired through recollection of boyhood days to write letters from the Penitentiary warning their former playmate against the man who was afterward his victim.

The six former convicts whom Orrick Bishop, attorney for Egan, told the jury were now earning an honest livelihood were John Whalen, Joe Rosewell, James Barry, David Hickey, Tony Garrety and Martin Danforth, most of whom had been born and reared in the old "Bloody Fourth" Police District.

Fired in Self-Defense.

Gagel, the victim of Egan's bullet, which the jury found had been fired in self defense, was a product of the same district. He had known Egan as boy playmate. At the time the "six" say he made threats against Egan's life, Gagel was serving ten years in the Penitentiary for killing Joseph Caples.

Joe Rosewell told the jury that he was Gagel's cellmate until Gagel was released, Aug. 26, 1904. In the companionship of their cell, Rosewell said that he learned Gagel intended to kill Egan because he had not testified in the convict's defense for the murder of which he was found guilty.

"If Egan had made a front for me," Gagel is said to have told Rosewell, "I would not be serving time now. I'll 'fix' him when I get out of here.

Served Five Years.

Rosewell pleaded guilty to robbery in the first degree on Dec. 12, 1900, in the Circuit Court, and was then serving five years. Dave Hickey had pleaded guilty to robbery in the second degree Nov. 13, 1899, and was serving seven and one-half years.

They told how they had written to Egan, putting him on his guard against Gagel. John Whalen, convicted of robbery in the first degree, Dec. 12, 1900, who was serving five years, related the same story.

Jimmy Barry, who was convicted of assault Dec. 20, 1901, and served six months in the Workhouse, told how Gagel refused to take a drink in Egan's saloon, on Barry's invitation, during the last Christmas holidays.

Barry said he asked Gagel for his reason and that the reply had been.

"I don't want to meet him there. I want to be fixed when I meet him somewhere else."

Told of Old Grudge.

Then Barry related how Gagel had repeated the old grudge.

Tony Garrety, who was convicted of grand larceny June 8, 1898, and was sentenced to serve two and one-half years in the Penitentiary, testified that he had roomed with Gagel in the city, after Gagel's release. It was during this companionship that Garrety said his roommate had threatened to "get" Egan.

This testimony, together with other of Egan's friends who had never been convicted of any crime, was laid by the defense as having led to Gagel's appearance at the Jolly Five Club, 1505 Morgan street, during last January. Gagel and Egan had not met for nearly eleven years, most of that time having been spent by Gagel in the Penitentiary.

There the testimony became confused. Egan was visiting the members of the Jolly Five. Gagel entered the saloon. According to Egan's testimony and that of other witnesses, Gagel had not been in the saloon five minutes when the shot was fired that killed him.

Two Shots Fired.

John Beck, an eye witness, told of a "stranger," Van Anderson, introducing Gagel around the room. When Van Anderson came to Egan, who was seated along the south wall of the saloon, Beck says Gagel brought his hand forward, apparently from his side pocket, extending it toward Egan, and that Egan then fired two shots. Not a word had been spoken, according to every witness of the shooting. They all ran from the saloon, leaving Gagel on the floor.

Van Anderson disappeared a few days before Egan's trial. Judge Sale issued an attachment for him, but the police were unable to find him.

Rex McDonald, another frequenter of the Jolly Five Club, was to have been a witness in the Egan case. He was mysteriously killed a short time after the culmination of the Egan-Gagel feud.

PRISONER ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE AND WITNESSES WHOSE TESTIMONY SAVED HIM

POISON MAILED TO BARRINGTON IS INTERCEPTED

Capsule Containing Strychnine Intended for the Condemned Man.

Deadly poison, in the guise of medicine, sent through the mails to "Lord" F. Seymour Barrington, condemned to die July 25 for the murder of James P. McCann, was intercepted by Sheriff Herpel of St. Louis County.

The poison, strychnine, was contained in a 5-grain capsule. The result of a test of the powder was reported Wednesday to the Sheriff. Dr. Egger, county physician, said that he had found in the capsule enough strychnine to kill a man, and that a cat, to which he gave a small portion of the capsule's contents, died in a few minutes.

Note Marked "Personal."

A letter, addressed to "Lord Barrington, Jail, Clayton, Mo.," was received at the Jail last Saturday. Although marked "Personal," it was opened by the Sheriff, as is all mail addressed to Barrington.

A capsule fell out as the letter was opened. The note accompanying it read:

"Dear Lord Barrington: I have been informed that you are suffering from indigestion. The inclosed capsule will cure you without fail."

The letter was signed with the name of "Dr. C. M. Winneg, 2105 Lucas avenue." No one by that name is known at the address given.

The capsule was at once turned over to Dr. Egger.

Barrington said Wednesday that he had never known anyone by such a name.

Barrington was allowed to keep the sinister note. He seemed to regard the incident as a token of good luck. His attorneys are now endeavoring to persuade Gov. Folk to commute his death sentence. In his report, written before the cat test, Dr. Egger said:

"The pill contained enough strychnine to kill a man, but it was combined with other drugs. The preparation may be purely medicinal."

GIRL HANGS FROM WINDOW LEDGE IN BLAZING HOUSE

One Companion Goes to Roof, the Other Out Burning Door and Firemen Carry Her Down a Ladder Unhurt.

A young woman, hanging to a second-story window ledge while a tongue of flame darted through the window, kept her hold for five minutes until an alarm was turned in and an East St. Louis fire company went three blocks to her rescue Wednesday morning.

Another woman in the same house scrambled to the roof and a third, unable to climb, dashed through the flames to a stairway.

Mrs. Laura Eby occupies the second-story flat at 604 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis. With her live an adopted daughter, Miss Anna Choppell, and Mrs. J. Lakey, a boarder. The three women were house-cleaning Wednesday morning and had rubbed gasoline on the furniture in the front room.

One of the women stepped on a match. A circle of fire ran round the room in a second. The women, thinking that the gasoline would burn without setting fire to the furniture or woodwork, paused in their work. They did not attempt to leave until the whole room was in a blaze and the door to the stairway was veiled in jets of flame.

Covered Her Head and Ran.

Mrs. Lakey climbed out of the window and drew herself up to the roof. Mrs. Eby attempted to follow. She weighs 200 pounds and on account of her weight could neither climb herself nor be lifted by Mrs. Lakey to the roof. She threw her skirts over her head, bent low and made a rush for the hall. She passed the fire-veiled door and gained the stairway unharmed, crying fire as she caught her breath.

Miss Choppell climbed out a front window. She could not get to the roof there, because of a gable. In an instant the flames had advanced to the window. She clung to the ledge, her feet dangling in air, the fire scorching her hands and face.

H. F. Carter, who lives across the street, saw her danger. He called to her to keep up her courage. A fire engine company house was three blocks away. Carter called the men from there by telephone. They made a record trip to the burning house.

As the hook and ladder wagon made the run a ladder was prepared. Firemen Henry Holton swung the ladder into place and before the upper end touched the wall of the house James Donohue was half way up. He seized Miss Choppell, who was losing consciousness, and bore her in his arms to the ground.

Woman Taken From Roof.

A minute more and the ladder was at the side of the house and Donohue had Mrs. Lakey in his arms, carrying her down. By that time the fire had wrecked the house.

Miss Choppell is 18 years old and pretty. Her arms were blistered and the side of her face nearest the intense heat of the burning room was also scorched. Neither of the other women was hurt.

TELEGRAPHERS' BOARD APPROVES PLAN TO STRIKE

President Small Authorized to Call a Walk-Out at Any Moment.

EMPLOYES INTIMIDATED

Western Union Orders Men to Sign Statement Denying Grievances.

OPERATORS ASSESSED

Must Contribute Day's Wages Each Week to the Strike Fund.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19.—According to the Wall Street Journal's announcement this morning, the general executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union has approved the plan to declare a strike against either the Western Union or Postal Telegraph Co., or against both, and the matter is now in the hands of President Small of the telegraphers' union.

It is stated that President Small is authorized to call a strike at any moment at any point in the United States where the commercial telegraphers are at work, and that definite action may be expected very soon.

It is believed that the plans for a walkout have not been completed, so far as President Small is concerned, and that there will be a delay of some days before an order issues from the general headquarters in this city.

Deputy President Konenkamp said, when questioned, that a tax of one day's pay per week has been levied against all the members of the union.

Officials Hamper Neill.

United States Labor Commissioner Charles P. Neill, who had been delegated by President Roosevelt to investigate the trouble between the telegraphers and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, has been delayed by the officials of the Western Union, who refused to admit there was any trouble. In order to show this by documentary evidence the Western Union officials made the rounds at the offices at 195 Broadway and asked the operators to sign a statement that they had no grievances against the company.

Many of those who signed appeared later at the headquarters of the national officers of the telegraphers at the Astor House and claimed they had been compelled to sign the statement through fear of losing their positions. This statement will be presented to Mr. Neill today.

Warlike at Headquarters.

Things look warlike at the Astor House headquarters of the telegraphers. Every man is busy. The leaders admit the situation is serious. This statement was made by one of the members of the Executive Board:

"President Clowry of the Western Union and President Mackey of the Postal Telegraph Co. have refused even to reply to the memorials presented to them, and it is now up to us to act. We are ready to do so and we will make an announcement of our intentions at 11 o'clock this morning. The two companies evidently want to force us into a strike, but when we do strike they will get all that is coming to them. There will be no general strike, but there may be strikes in various cities, which will have the effect of a general strike."

Commuters' Rates Retained.

The Rock Island will continue its commutation rates between St. Louis and Union and intermediate points, and the Frisco will continue its commutation rates between St. Louis and Pacific and intermediate points. All commutation rates on the Iron Mountain, Missouri Pacific and Wabash will continue in effect.

The 2-cent rate was put into effect as the result of an agreement between Judge Smith McPherson of Kansas City and the railroad companies. It is to be tried for 90 days and if the results prove confiscatory the railroads will have the privilege of renewing in the Federal courts their injunction proceedings against the State officials to restrain them from enforcing the 2-cent law.

Orders Expected in St. Louis.

President A. L. Ewing of the local lodge, commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, says that the St. Louis organization voted last Friday to sustain any action taken by the national body, with headquarters in New York. Mr. Ewing said that he had not yet received any instructions to strike, but that he expected an order of that kind some time Wednesday.

Mrs. Clanahan Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Leonora Clanahan filed suit in the Circuit Court against Willis L. Clanahan, well-known writer of newspaper verse and prose. She alleges indignities. They were married Sept. 22, 1905, and separated June 6, 1907. Mrs. Clanahan is a daughter of President Thiel of the Thiel Detective

WIFE LEADS MOB OF 100 TO BEAT HUSBAND

Attack Miner Out on Bail for Bigamy and Police Save Him at Pistol Point.

PUT IN JAIL FOR SAFETY

Women Armed With Pistols Attack the Accused as Wife No. 2 Flees.

TEN ARRESTS ARE MADE

Chief of Police Will Make Other Arrests for Threats Made of Lynching.

Alfred Boulard, a miner at Assumption, Ill., charged with bigamy, was rescued by the police from a mob of 100 armed men and women, led by his first wife, and spirited in safety to the Taylorville Jail. The first wife and nine other persons were arrested, and were arraigned Wednesday in Assumption on charges of rioting.

Assumption is a mining village 33 miles northeast of St. Louis.

The mob had surrounded Boulard's home, where he lived with his second wife, and was beating him, when Chief of Police Galvin, with several specials sworn in for the emergency, appeared with drawn revolvers and forced the crowd back.

Accused a Frenchman.

Boulard went to Assumption a year ago from Ville Montenie, France. Preceding him by a few days was a woman known there as Bella Elassone. On Boulard's arrival they announced their marriage, and made their home near Assumption mines.

Letters from France last December apprised State's Attorney Neff of Christian County that Boulard had a wife and three children living in Ville Montenie. Her name was given as Dolores, and she forwarded a copy of her marriage certificate.

On this information Boulard was arrested, charged with bigamy, and went to trial before a jury in the Christian Circuit Court. As the trial progressed Judge Rose expressed doubt as to the authenticity of the papers forwarded by Mrs. Boulard, and, announcing that if she washed to prosecute her husband she ought to be present in person, took the case from the jury and dismissed Boulard.

This information in due time reached Mrs. Boulard in distant France, and she set out with her three children, the oldest 7, for Assumption. She arrived there a month ago, and a second time caused her husband's arrest.

State's Attorney Neff was unable to find the record of Boulard's marriage to Bella Elassone, and the charge against him was altered to meet this circumstance.

Released on Bail.

Boulard was held on preliminary trial to the grand jury under $400 bond. He was unable to supply this until last Saturday night, when he was released and returned to Assumption.

Monday evening a crowd gathered on the main street of the town, which rapidly gathered strength and assumed momentarily a more menacing aspect. Mrs. Boulard wrapped a small revolver in a handkerchief, but others in the crowd, including women, openly displayed weapons. One carried a rope. At dusk the mob set out along the street toward Boulard's home on the outskirts of the village.

Was Forewarned.

Boulard had been forewarned that trouble was brewing, but defiantly remained at home. His second wife fled to a neighbor's home and concealed herself there. When the mob, led by Mrs. Boulard, reached the house, the front door was forced and a dozen entered, emerging with Boulard a prisoner, struggling frantically and terrified at sight of the rope and the weapons.

The first rage of the mob was expended in kicking and beating the helpless man, Mrs. Boulard and women sympathizers leading in this punishment. Chief Galvin arrived while this was in progress. The mob fell back sullenly at sight of the determined aspect of the officers, and of the drawn weapons, and Boulard was taken away under cover of night.

Threats are still frequently made in the streets against Boulard.

St. Louisan First Promises to Live in Colorado in Future.

Frank Tettemer, formerly of St. Louis, was married at noon Wednesday in Denver to Miss May Mullen, daughter of S. J. Mullen, millionaire mining and milling operator of that city. Rev. Father Joseph Tettemer of St. Louis, brother of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony.

SECRET ORDER STATE OFFICER IS UNDER FIRE

Friends of John D. O'Keefe Attribute Charges to Jealousy.

HEARING IS IN SECRET

Many Witnesses Called in the Knights and Ladies of Honor Muddle.

Friends of John D. O'Keefe, grand protector of Missouri of the Knights and Ladies of Honor, ascribe the filing of charges against him to jealousy and official rivalry on the part of George E. Cobb, vice-grand protector. The charges were officially filed by Dennis H. Wood et al. and O'Keefe is now on trial at the St. Louis Turner Hall, 1508 Chouteau avenue.

His friends say that O'Keefe suspended Cobb and that Cob appealed to Supreme Protector Lockhart of Indianapolis, and cut off a salary of $150 a month, which O'Keefe was drawing as State organizer. Later, they say, O'Keefe again suspended Cobb and then friends of Cobb, including Woods, filed the charges, which, in the main, relate to irregularities in initiations.

Cobb is an undertaker and a son-in-law of Chris Schawacker, also an undertaker. O'Keefe was formerly a clerk in the Coroner's office.

"They're trying to bury O'Keefe," say the grand protector's friends.

"Then he'll know how to hold an inquest on himself," retorted Cobb, when the remark was repeated to him Wednesday.

Hearing Is Secret.

There are 94 lodges of the Knights and Ladies of Honor in St. Louis, with a membership of probably 9000. All the members are taking a lively interest in the trial and about thirty of them were on hand Wednesday to testify. The hearing is behind closed doors, by a committee comprising Messrs. H. S. Blatt of Pennsylvania, Charles Mulligan of Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. W. Wurdmann of Evansville, Ind., and G. W. Sykes of Aberdeen, Miss., appointed by Supreme Protector Lockhart.

All of the members of the order have been sworn to secrecy regarding the trial and neither O'Keefe nor Cobb will discuss it, although both are present during the examination of witnesses.

Many facts concerning the controversy have leaked out, however. O'Keefe has been grand protector for eight years. His friends say that during that time he has increased the membership of the order in Missouri from 4000 to 12,000. His success, they say, has made other high officials of the order jealous for fear he might aspire to supreme or national office through the votes of the Missouri delegation in the national convention of the order at Indianapolis in September.

These friends declare that two members from each lodge in the city will be on hand at the Turner Hall tonight to testify in favor of the work and character of Mr. O'Keefe and some of them threaten to tell the committee that if Mr. O'Keefe is treated unfavorably the Missouri membership may secede from the national body.

Relate to Initiations.

The charges against O'Keefe are said to have been filed by Dennis H. Woods of Lily Council, to which Cobb belongs, Herman Vollmer of Advance Council, and Andrew McCall of West Gate Council. They allege, it appears, that O'Keefe permitted new members to be introduced into the lodges of the order without insisting on all the requirements of the order being complied with—for instance, that he permitted new members to become "obligated" at one meeting and did not give them the "secret work" of the order until the next meeting. The charges are also said to contain some reference to padding of membership records.

Mr. O'Keefe is not a financial loser through the action of Supreme Protector Lockhart in taking away his $150 a month as organizer. A meeting of representatives of all the lodges in the city was held a few nights ago and a purse of $800 was presented him as a token of their appreciation of his services.

The annual meeting to elect a grand protector will be held in St. Louis in August. If the result of the present trial is O'Keefe's suspension, he will be ineligible for re-election. But some enthusiastic O'Keefe men declared to a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that O'Keefe will be retained at the head of the order in Missouri, no matter what the committee does.

Mr. Cobb declined to discuss his alleged suspensions and reinstatements when specifically questioned about them by a Post-Dispatch reporter. He talked about the fact that the committee went to St. Charles to hold its first meeting Tuesday but returned to St. Louis when O'Keefe and his attorneys objected to the hearing being held there. Cobb says the call for the meeting of the committee provided it should be held in St. Charles. Others say that the Cobb faction wanted it held there, as reporters are scarcer in St. Charles than in St. Louis.

TOWER OF CITY HALL IN DANGER

Rust Had Eaten Away Iron Supports of Huge Bell,

Workmen sent to the tower of the City Hall found the stays and iron beams of the dome almost completely rusted away beneath the weight of the immense bell supported therein.

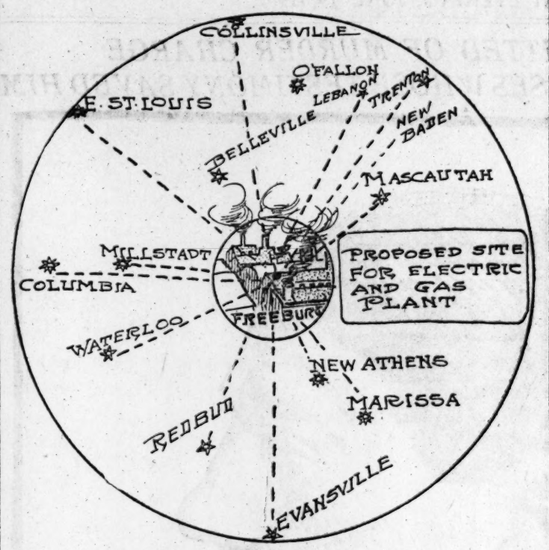

Building Commissioner Smith dispatched a force of men to put in new supports and a serious accident was averted. The tower is nearly 200 feet above the ground.

MAMMOTH SCHEME TO GENERATE GAS AND ELECTRICITY FOR COAL CARRYING

Clark Brothers of Philadelphia Acquire 40,000 Acres of Land in Illinois.

NEW RAILROAD, TOO

May Feed St. Louis With Gas, Fuel and Electricity From New Enterprise.

Huge electric power houses, monster gas tanks and electric railroads tapping one of the largest coal fields in Illinois are possibilities of the near future in the neighborhood of Freeburg, Ill.

Attorney M. W. Borders, general counsel for a Chicago packing house, has just paid out $35,000 for options for coal lands in that vicinity and stands ready to pay out many times that amount for options on thousands of other acres within a radius of 10 miles.

Several months ago Charles Becker of Freeburg, now secretary of the Board of Review at Belleville, began taking up options on coal land in the vicinity of Freeburg and Turkey Hill. His operations were confined entirely to the west side of the Okaw River. On the east side of the river Conrad Burghard of Fayetteville was busy doing the same thing.

$1 An Acre the Average.

The average price paid for an option on any number of acres was $1. The average price to be paid for the privilege of removing the coal from beneath the land was $10 per acre. In some instances the price paid for the option and the price stipulated to be paid for the coal was more, sometimes less. Becker worked among the farmers of his side of the river until he had procured options on 15,000 acres of land. Burghard received options on 25,000 acres.

When Becker first started his work he was working for a syndicate of St. Louis capitalists.

"I would not care to give their names now," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "because they have dropped out of the deal. My options have all been turned over to Mr. Borders of Chicago. He took up $35,000 worth of these options yesterday.

"The first company intended building a huge electric light and gas plant near Turkey Hill for the ultimate purpose of supplying gas and electricity to Belleville, East St. Louis and eventually St. Louis. Whether the Clark Bros. of Philadelphia, whom Borders represents, intend doing this, I do not know."

Unusual Development.

That something in the way of unusual development for the territory where the coal lands are situated is sure to come is evidenced by the fact that an electric road is to be built into the heart of the coal country as soon as possible. The route has been surveyed and all the right-of-way secured.

The men who are to construct this road are for the most part connected with the East St. Louis & Suburban Railroad, which is owned by the Clarks of Philadelphia.

The new road is to connect with the old Day line, now used as a coal road between Belleville and East St. Louis, at the old western city limits of Belleville. From that point the survey extends in a southeasterly direction to Fayetteville, passing Freeburg about two miles to the north. A spur will be constructed into Freeburg.

The original purchasers of the options held that the generation of gas and electricity at a central point and conveying it to cities several miles away, would be cheaper than digging the coal at a central point and transporting it to the different cities to have it transformed into gas and electricity.

May Adopt Old Plan.

It may be that the Clarks will carry out the plans of the first syndicate that had its eyes on the vast coal fields.

The options on a portion of the lands lying east of the Okaw River will expire Oct. 1. The other options have been worded so they may be extended four or five years with the payment of interest.

ADAMS EXPRESS RATES CAN'T BE LOWERED NOW

Interest - Bearing Dividend Bonds Tie the Commerce Commission's Hands.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Interstate Commerce Commissioners were amazed today when they read of the Adams Express Co.'s proposal to issue an interest-bearing bond dividend of 200 per cent. They were astonished, first because the officials of the company thus publicly advertise that they have a large surplus on hand, and second that they propose to distribute the surplus in such a manner that future generations will be asked to pay rates high enough to pay the interest charges on dividends.

As individuals, commissioners talked about the effrontery of the express company officials, their audacity and callousness in making such a proposal. Officially they considered it their duty to say nothing because they will be called upon to pass on the question whether the rates of express business are too high.

The proposal is regarded as more obnoxious than anything Harriman ever did or proposed to do. Harriman merely capitalized the prospects of the Alton. To make the capitalization of the future of the road seem a little more reasonable, he said that money taken from the earnings years before to pay the dividends should have been charged to the capital account.

This for the Public.

But there is no compulsion on the part of the American public to pay dividends on that stock. None were being paid now. But with the Adams Express surplus distribution, the operation, so far as the public is concerned, will be radically different. The bonds will bear interest right along and if the interest is not paid, that will be excuse enough to throw the corporation into the hands of a receiver.

The commissioners themselves, when a railroad had pleaded the fact, have recognized bonds as an obligation on which some return must be made, no matter how high the rates might have to be placed to accomplish the payment of the interest charged. If the same rule is to be followed in the future, the Adams officials, by making the surplus distribution take the form of bonds, assure to their corporation to charge the present high rates for an indefinite period.

So far as they know now, the commissioners can do nothing to prevent the proposed increase in the indebtedness of the company and the consequent increase in the so-called fixed charges upon which the commission has always allowed the transportation companies to earn enough to pay the interest.

Up to the Commission.

But when the question of the reasonableness of rates comes before the commission, the fact that the capitalization has been increased 200 per cent without the expenditure of a dollar will be remembered. During the lifetime of the present commission it is certain the proposed bond issue will not be considered at all in estimating the amount of income from rates.

It is believed that the determination of the company's officers to make the surplus division in that way is prompted by the knowledge that on July 1 the commission will put into effect the uniform bookkeeping system devised by Prof. Henry Adams which will classify the charges that may be made against capital account, operating expenses and maintenance of way.

A Bad Habit and a Good Remedy

Many women have a bad habit of using carbolic acid as a disinfectant about the house in spite of the fact that it is a dangerous poison and liable to cause the death of any one of the family who might be careless.

Instead of using carbolic acid, an excellent disinfectant and one that is non-poisonous is C.-N. Disinfectant, as it is just as strong as carbolic, yet absolutely harmless.

It can also be used for many different things in the home and is economical, as well.

ELOPED FOR "QUIET" WEDDING

Former Football Star Brings Farmer's Daughter Here to Wed.

Theodore Surman, an athlete and Blackburn University football player, and Miss Alice Kessinger, both of Carlinville, Ill., came to St. Louis early Wednesday, procured a license at the City Hall and went to the residence of Dr. Samuel J. Niccolls and were married. They eloped, Surman said, to escape his friends, who had been demanding a public wedding.

Surman is 26 years old, and is engaged in the clothing business at Collinsville. His father, William Surman, is a well-known Democratic politician. The bride is the daughter of Preston W. Kessinger, a wealthy retired farmer. After the wedding ceremony the couple returned to Collinsville.

Boy Killed by Dirt Car.

The inquest into the death of Joseph Stapleton, 15 years old, who died at the City Hospital from injuries incurred when a Frisco flat car ran over his left leg, was held Wednesday morning. The boy is the son of J. O. Stapleton of 1509 West Billon street. With two companions he had boarded the flat car loaded with dirt. A log on top of the dirt became dislodged and knocked young Stapleton off under the wheels.

FOR THIN PEOPLE.

Abnormal leanness of the body is the direct result of imperfect digestion. The proper amount of nutriment not being allowed to be assimilated by the blood to build up the muscles and fleshy deposits.

A well-known authority says that this is a matter very easily remedied if the person will confine the diet to simple food, avoiding too many sweets and make use of the following prescription: "Two ounces Essence of Pepsin; three ounces Syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir Compound. These to be well mixed in a bottle and used in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after meals, also at bed time for the first few days."

The ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy and easily mixed at home, and it is said that the effects on the general system are felt almost immediately.

This formula is also said to be the most effective known to science for the relief and cure of all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

BRYCE SPEAKS FOR WATERWAYS TO THE GULF

English Ambassador Tells Merchants' Exchange of Advantages.

Ambassador James Bryce made a speech before the Merchants' Exchange at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday, discussing the prosperity of the country, the necessity of solving the transportation difficulties by international waterway improvement, and asserting that there were no quarrels between nations which might disturb the peace of the world.

Then he refused to leave the floor until President George H. Plant and Ex-Governor D. R. Francis had explained to him the system of trading pursued by the members.

Seated on the platform with him were Mayor Wells, Gov. Francis, P. S. Brookings, T. R. Ballard, E. O. Stannard, Edward Devoy, L. D. Kingsland, George British Conell, Marcus Bernheimer, James Arbuckle, William F. Kennett and Manley G. Richmond.

Likes Commercial Enterprise.

"I thank you for the kindly reception you have given me," said the Ambassador. "It is a great pleasure to be in this commercial hall in the center of commercial activity of the great Southwest and to be in this exchange where you are dealing in the commodities that make the wealth of the country and provide its food supply. I like to see the spirit of commercial enterprise that is characteristic of your country.

"When I was here three years ago I saw your great Exposition, and I can never forget it. Visitors then were at a loss whether to admire the more the great resources of your country or the energy with which they were developed. There has been no change in the prosperity.

"The only difficulty that I have observed is the inadequate means of transportation for the produce which nature has bestowed upon you. I am glad to see you considering another means by which your transportation troubles may be reduced. You have a great system of inland waterways and your energetic administration is going to investigate them.

"The railroads will have nothing to fear by the development of the waterways. There is enough produce for them both to carry, and what benefits one transporting power benefits every other transporting agent. England wants all of your surplus products she can get, and we hope that you will provide more and better means of transportation so that we can get more of them, get them quicker and cheaper. I wish you took more from us. The free exchange of products between nations is good for all concerned. It makes us all feel that we are the children of one common father who wishes us well. It helps to promote international peace and good will.

"The moment may be auspicious for me to remark that there is nothing in the horizon to disturb the peace of the world. There is no difference that cannot be adjusted by good sense and good feeling on both sides.

"I want to say for England, because I was sent here to say it, that there never was a time when there was such a large and full measure of good feeling between your country and mine. There I snothing but good will and the best of feeling between the two countries. I have seen many evidences of your kindly feeling for us since I have been here, and I can't imagine anything that is likely to disturb the ties between the two countries."

PRITCHETT IN COURT FACES CHURCH FOES

Women Complainants Try to Stare Accused Minister Out of Countenance.

CASE IS POSTPONED

Charles Donley, Who Deserted Bride of Six Weeks, Fails to Appear.

The trial of the Rev. Andrew L. Fritchett on charges of slandering women of his church in Wellston Park was continued today in Clayton to Wednesday, July 17.

Neither the state nor the defense was willing to go to trial without the presence of Charles Donley, who was absent An effort will be made to have him in Clayton July 17.

Donley is the young man who left his bride of six weeks because of Rev. Mr. Pritchett. Exactly what the reason for this departure is no one knows. Some say that the minister talked to the young husband about his pretty young wife and poisoned his mind against her.

Mrs. Callie Donley, the deserted bride, was in court Wednesday morning, radiant in a new suit of pale blue with a bonnet to match. The court room was almost filled with women from Wellston Park. Some had their babies.

There was quite a flutter of skirts when the Rev. Mr. Pritchett came in.

He seemed to be nervous. He tried to appear unconscious of the women who stared at him as he walked in.

As soon as he was seated, Mrs. Charles Ridenour and Mrs. Dora Murray, two of the chief complainants against him, began to try and stare him out of countenance. They pitched forward in their chairs and peered into his face. They were sitting facing each other, upon opposite sides of a long table.

Mr. Pritchett was more at ease as he stood in the shade of an elm tree in the Courthouse yard after his accusers had taken cars for their homes.

"I am not uneasy," he said. "I will be acquitted at the trial. I am anxious to have Mr. Donley return, because I believe he will tell that I did not slander his wife to him. So far as I know, his wife is a model little woman."

GIRL PUT LOVE NOTES IN HUSBAND'S LUNCH BASKET

Wife Complains to Police, He Is Arrested and Letter Writer Threatens Suicide.

Love notes carefully tucked away in the lunch boxes which Albert Able, 25 years old, of 2330A Olive street, carried to and from his place of employment, led to his arrest Tuesday evening.

He is accused of giving up his wife and baby for the writer of the love notes—Gussie Kried, 17 years old, formerly of Hardin, Calhoun County, Ill. Miss Kried was employed as a dining room girl at 3119 Lucas avenue, where Able and his wife formerly boarded. Able said that she fixed up his lunches, and that every day he found a note from her tucked away in one corner of the box.

A few days ago Mrs. Able complained that Gussie had stolen her husband. She wanted the girl arrested, but asked that her husband be left free to return home.

Miss Kried later went to police headquarters and complained that Mrs. Able was holding her trunk. She admitted that what Mrs. Able charged was true, and threatened to commit suicide if the police notified her relatives in Illinois. She was detained in the matron's room and Able was arrested. The police will ask for an information against him.

CITY PLANNING BIG RIVER FETE FOR ROOSEVELT

Russell Gardner Calls Meeting to Form Plans for President's Visit.

WILL BE A GALA DAY

Decoration of Boats, Athletic Contests, Marine Races the Program.

Russell Gardner, St. Louis' premier river enthusiast, has begun early to arrange for the gigantic water carnival suggested by the Post-Dispatch for Oct. 2, the day of President Roosevelt's visit to St. Louis via the Mississippi. Mr. Gardner called a meeting of the persons interested in the project for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock aboard the Annie Russell at the foot of Elm street.

Mr. Gardner plans as part of the fete a ten mile swim with power boat races, short distance swims, swimming contests for women and high diving, possibly from the Eads bridge.

The Missouri Athletic Club, the Missouri Naval Reserves, prominent business men have already lent their hearty support to Mr. Gardner.

To Get Foreign Talent.

The athletic club is arranging to send representatives to Europe and parts of the United States to get entries for the swim. Mr. Gardner has offered a boat as the first prize in the swimming contest to go to the club of which the successful swimmer is a member. A huge silver cup has been donated by A. A. Busch as an individual prize to the winner of the ten-mile swim.

Instead of having the finish of the ten-mile race under the Eads bridge, as last year, the plan is now to have it finish farther down the river. It is further planned to induce all the boat-owners, if possible, to remove their vessels from the St. Louis side of the river and thus afford the thousands an unobstructed view of the swimming races and power boat contests.

President Roosevelt will spend the day in St. Louis, coming here from Keokuk, or some up-river point. Mr. Gardner says an arrangement has already been made with the Business Men's League by which that organization is to entertain the President in the morning and about 2 o'clock in the afternoon turn him over to the committee representing the organizations in charge of the water front fiesta.

Will Have Private Boat.

He will be taken aboard a private boat to see the finish of the races and, possibly, pin the medals on the winners, if that can be arranged.

It is expected that the governors of twenty states will be here that day to meet the President. Mayor Wells will be invited to take a prominent part in the river festivities and so will the officers and soldiers at Jefferson Barracks. It is hoped by the Naval Reserves that the boat, Huntress, which the Navy Department has promised to turn over to the local organization will be brought here in time for the event.

At Friday afternoon's meeting a liminary organization will be effe

Mrs. Garner fears her son has met with foul play, as this is the first time he has ever been missing from home.

2-CENT FARE GRANTED ONLY WITHIN STATE

Railroads Demand 3 Cents a Mile for Travelers Across Boundaries.

BIG RUSH FOR TICKETS

All Special Rates Except Those for Commuters Are Revoked.

Except on interstate business all agents at Union Station and the city ticket offices were instructed by the railroads Wednesday to sell tickets at the rate of 2 cents a mile. For all interstate tickets the railroads are demanding 3 cents a mile, holding that State laws can have no effect on interstate transportation rates. The railroads withdrew many special privileges, stopped the sale of round-trip tickets at less than double the local rate, and cut the baggage limit from 150 to 100 pounds.

There was an unusually big sale of tickets at the station Wednesday morning. It seemed that many persons who had been contemplating trips had postponed them until the 2-cent rate went into effect.

The refusal of the roads to apply the 2-cent rate to any part of an interstate ticket caused some surprise among travelers. A ticket from St. Louis to Little Rock Ark., could not be purchased at the station for less than 3 cents a mile, although both Missouri and Arkansas have the 2-cent laws in effect.

Arkansas Line. 2 Cents.

The agents would sell a ticket to the Arkansas line at the rate of 2 cents a mile. The distance from St. Louis to Little Rock is 530 miles. The railroads are demanding the full 3 cents a mile, or $15.90 for a through ticket. The passenger may, by purchasing a ticket to the Arkansas line and then purchasing another ticket to Little Rock, make the trip for $10.60, a saving of $5.30.

The special half rates to clergymen, sisters of charity, deaconesses, members of the Salvation Army, objects of charity and aid and inmates of soldiers' and sailors' homes, were withdrawn.

Burlington, Missouri Pacific, Rock Island, Frisco, Iron Mountain and Wabash withdrew all special round-trip rates to Missouri points. The Burlington instructed its agents to sell no coupon tickets to any Missouri towns, but announced that the week-end rates to Illinois points will remain in effect. Commutation rates will be accorded to privileged persons only, and then on presentation only of a letter from a railroad official.

Hadley Jubilant.

Attorney-General Hadley, who is at the Southern Hotel, is jubilant over the result of the 2-cent fare fight.

"All the demands of the State have been complied with," said Mr. Hadley to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The railroads surrendered when they found they could not successfully resist the enforcement of the law. The statute is to remain in effect 90 days and by that time we shall be able to definitely ascertain whether the calamity claims of the railroads are justified.

"I believe the railroads can prosper under the 2-cent rate."

O CAR LINE, SAYS SCANLAN; MOVE THE MUSEUM FIRST

With That Ultimatum the Park Commissioner Stands Pat on Subject.

Park Commissioner Scanlan has suggested, regarding the proposition to build a street car line through Forest Park to the Art Museum, that the museum be moved.

"Better that than cut up the park with electric lines," he said. "If the museum is not located in the right place it is easier to move the building." With this declaration the commissioner stands pat."

The Executive Board of the Eighth District Federation of Woman's Clubs, which favors the construction of a spur through the park up Art Hill, will meet Wednesday afternoon to discuss the proposition.

Letters are being sent to the various business organizations of the city by the Federation asking their support for the proposed line.

REVOLVING GLOBE OF FLOWERS

Waterworks Garden Makes Earth of 31,500 Plants.

An immense floral globe that shows each hemisphere perfectly and revolves on its axis just as the earth does, has been completed at the Chain of Rocks water works. It is the idea of William E. Robinson, the water works' florist.

It required two men nine days to build the globe and set the plants, which are valued at $280. The globe stands 14 feet high and is 10½ feet in diameter. There are 31,500 plants in it, held in soil seven inches deep and retained in place against a wooden frame by spaghnum moss supported by wire netting.

Alternatheras of five different varieties have been used to represent land and white seldom represents water. Islands are shown by deep red foliage plants. The lines of latitude and longitude are correctly indicated by strings.

The plants were all raised in the greenhouses at the Baden water works.

MARK TWAIN A ZERO AS A PRINTER SAYS "NEWSBOY," 71, HIS OLD FRIEND

Old-Time Type-Sticker Declares Humorist Was Steady and Never Drank.

HE FACED STARVATION

Made so Many Errors That His Wages Amounted Only to $8 or $9 a Week.

WAS FORCED TO QUIT

Began on Mississippi as Roustabout and Soon Was Promoted to Be Pilot.

No matter what else Mark Twain succeeded in achieving, he could not set type, says Anthony Kennedy, a 71-year-old Post-Dispatch "newsboy" on the northwest corner of Broadway and Pine street. Kennedy cherishes as the proudest memory of his life the fact that the celebrated humorist and himself were compositors together on the old St. Louis Democrat for several months in the spring of 1853.

"We were sticking type then at 30 cents a thousand ems," said Kennedy, "and while the rest of us were drawing our $12 a week, it was all Sam Clemens could do to make $8 or $9.

"He always had so many errors marked in his proofs that it took most of his time correcting them. He could not have set up an advertisement in acceptable form to save his life."

Soon Quit Printing.

"Naturally, he did not stay in the printing business very long, because he would have starved at it. One day he washed his hands of printer's ink and went down to the river, where he got a job as roustabout. He must have found his element there, for two years later, when I met him for the last time on Chestnut street, he told me he had climbed up to pilot in that short time."

When Kennedy was besought by a Post Dispatch reporter to delve in his memory for experiences with Mark Twain prophetic with his present greatness, the old printer did his best. He scratched his head and tugged at his beard, but in vain. He finally had to own that Sam Clemens, as he knew him, was a very commonplace young man, not even known among his fellow printers as a youth of more than average intelligence.

"The most remarkable thing I remember about Clemens," said Kennedy, "is the fact that he was not 'one of the boys.' Then, more than now, it was the proud prerogative of printers to be able to drink more red whisky than men of any other trade. But Clemens, so far as I can remember, never took a drink.

"He was a silent chap, who attended to his own business and didn't mingle with the wild fellows who worked with him. He spoke with a delightful drawl, and sometimes unbent sufficiently to tell a funny story, which he did well enough.

Wore Misfit Clothing.

"He was a tall, gawky chap, just from the wilds of Hannibal, Mo. His clothes were several sizes too small for him and gave him the appearance of a scarecrow. It's been the puzzle of my life to explain how he happened to amount to anything. If he was reading or writing at the time I knew him, none of us were acquainted with the fact."

In 1888 Kennedy was a compositor on the New York World, and was nominated by his local as a delegate to the annual convention of the International Typographical Union. He wrote of his success to Mark Twain, then known from ocean to ocean, and requested an endorsement, but worded his communication so unskillfully that the humorist supposed Kennedy had taken a position in opposition to his union. The reply has Mark Twain written all over it.

"Friend Tony," it begins, "I applaud the serenity of your effort to get me in trouble with No. 6. Now you get some other firebrand to tie to your tail when you go through the Philistines' corn; this one's busy. I am 37 years older and 700 years wiser than when we wrought together, good your worship. Yours, Mark."

Ten Years on the World.

Besides having known Mark Twain, Kennedy's life has been interesting in itself. For years he followed his trade in one city after another, his longest stay in one place having been 10 years with the New York World. The universal introduction of linotype machines several years ago in newspaper offices threw him out of work. The employers preferred young men to operate the machines.

Kennedy then descended to a job printing office, but a strike soon deprived him of work. Since World's Fair year he has been selling papers, both in New York, at the Brooklyn Bridge, and in St. Louis.

He is a member of the Soldiers' Home at Danville, Ill., but his energetic spirit spurns the stagnant life of the home. "A spry young chap like myself," he said, "cannot be cooped up in a retreat. I belong out in the strenuous world, proving that I am one of those fit to survive. It will be many years before I shall be old enough to retire to the home. I've belonged to it since 1858, but in the 20 years since then I've spent only one and a half years there."

Kennedy speaks with some hesitation of his war record. "I reckon I wouldn't have gone to the front at all," he said, "if the hard times hadn't thrown me and a lot of other printers out of jobs. The Fortieth Missouri was organized in 1864, and as a bounty of $300 was offered every volunteer, most of us workless printers joined. A great many of them deserted to the Confederates the first chance they got.

Wanted to Desert.

"I wanted to desert at first, but the longer I was with the army the better Union man I became.

"My experience of war consists of one hour under fire at Spanish Fort, near Mobile, Ala. I don't think I was greatly frightened, though the bullets came frightfully near."

Kennedy was born in Ireland, and spent his youth in Keokuk, Io., where an older brother of Mark Twain, Orion Clemens, had a job printing office. The old printer manages to make both ends meet by eking out his small pension with the profits of selling the Post-Dispatch.

DYNAMITE SET WITH FUSE TO BLOW UP JAIL

An attempt to blow up the calaboose and building occupied as a justice court at Kirkwood was nipped in the bud by accidental discovery of the dynamite by Marshal Perley Secrest Tuesday evening.

Secrest was passing the building which is familiarly known as "the Jail." Several iron sewer pipes were lying underneath the window of the room occupied by Court Clerk A. L. Ossendorf, as an office. Secrest noticed a piece of insulated wire protruding from one of these pipes. His curiosity was aroused and he made an investigation. Inside the pipe was five pounds of dynamite.

Secrest took the dynamite to Henry Winters, who operates a quarry near Kirkwood. Winters exploded the dynamite in his quarry. He remarked after the last blast went off that the five pounds would have been sufficent to blow up half of Kirkwood.

The wire connecting with the explosive was two or three feet long. The insulation had been scraped off of a small space near the end. To set off the dynamite it would have been necessary only to place a wire attached to a battery against the bare spot on the small wire and then turn on the battery.

The home of J. W. Harper, who has nine in his family, is close to the calaboose. If the dynamite had been exploded, this residence, as well as the public building, would have been wrecked.

Marshal Secrest said that one man was under suspicion and that efforts were being made to find and arrest him. He reported the finding of the dynamite to police headquarters in St. Louis Wednesday morning.

FRANCIS SAYS, "WELLS DID IT"

Declares He Hasn't Started His Own Presidential Boom, but It's Great Honor.

David R. Francis, just back from an Oklahoma tour which was punctuated with echoes of the presidential boom started for him by Mayor Wells, read with much satisfaction at his downtown office Wednesday a telegram from New York.

The message stated that the official count of votes for directors of the New York Life Insurance Co. had shown his vote to be the highest on the successful administration ticket.

"That is an expression of confidence which I appreciate very much," said he to a Post-Dispatch reporter who had called to question him regarding political matters.

Not Booming Himself.

"As for the talk regarding the presidency, I can only say that the presidency is the highest office in the world, and worthy of any man's ambition, but that I have done nothing toward starting or organizing any boom for myself.

"Mayor Wells' kind expression in his Philadelphia interview I consider, as I said to an interviewer in Muskogee, the tribute of a personal friend.

"When I was questioned at another point in Oklahoma as to who would be the candidates, I remarked, 'Taft, I suppose, will be the Republican candidate, unless Roosevelt is, and Bryan is the only Democrat I have heard seriously mentioned.'"

"Have you done anything toward calling off Mayor Wells or otherwise checking your boom?" he was asked.

Hasn't Conferred With Mayor.

"I haven't had communication with the Mayor since I've been away," was the reply.

Gov. Francis, who was a member of Ambassador Bryce's special party, spoke enthusiastically of Oklahoma, and quoted an apt remark of the British Ambassador, who said that the new State had the agricultural wealth of France, the scenic beauty of England and the climate of Italy.

"The civic pride of the business men in each of the towns we visited was noticeable," said he. "Each group of men is apparently convinced that their own town is the future metropolis of the State, and is working to make it so."

WIFE REFUSES TO TELL WHERE STABBER WENT

Mrs. Anna Hornish, after a second night spent by compulsion in the matron's room at the Four Courts, baffled the police Wednesday by her continued refusal to tell them where to look for her fugitive husband, Joseph Hornish.

Hornish is accused, in an information issued Wednesday in the Court of General Sessions, of assault to kill. It is charged that he stabbed Paul Quinte, known as Paul Webb, in front of the "Nickelodeon" at 1530 Market street, where Webb was employed as a singer of illustrated ballads.

He fled Monday night after the stabbing, which was witnessed by his wife. She was placed in the detention room, but refused to make any statement about the stabbing.

"Nothing that I could say would benefit either my husband or myself," was her only answer to police inquiries. She repeated this expression Wednesday when urged to tell her husband's whereabouts.

As no charge is made against her, it was decided that she could not be longer held, and her release was ordered.

Quinte, with a deep wound in his left cheek, is a patient in the City Hospital. He said after the affray that Hornish had no reason for attacking him.

Mrs. Hornish said just after the stabbing that it was caused by an offensive remark made to her by the singer, who was an old acquaintance of her husband and herself. She refused later to explain this statement.

Miss Pearl Marr, a cousin of Mrs. Hornish, living above the amusement place, told the police that the quarrel was about her.

NEGROES SAVE WHITE WOMAN FROM A NEGRO

Mrs. Pearl Clark Attacked as She Passed Alley at Night.

STRUCK IN THE FACE

Dayton Street Police Are Making Leisurely Investigation.

Police of the Dayton Street Station are leisurely investigating the brutal and unusually bold assault by a negro late Tuesday night on Mrs. Pearl Clark of 3420 Bell avenue. She was still nervous Wednesday morning from fright and was suffering from a headache caused by a blow the negro gave her on the forehead.

At 9 a. m. Wednesday a report on the assault made out by Sergt. Moloney was on the desk of Lieut. St. John at the Dayton Street Station. He was then leaving his office. He said that on his return he expected to turn the report over to his special officers, Hare and Doyle. One of the specials was then in the station.

The negro assailant is described as 25 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, has a round, smooth face and was dressed in a dark suit of clothes and gray cap.

"I shall never feel safe on the streets of St. Louis at night again," she said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I cannot be too thankful to those colored men who came to my rescue."

Chased By Other Negroes.

If those colored men to whom Mrs. Clark refers had caught her assailant he would have been severely punished by those of his own race. "There is just one thing to do with a fellow like that," said Bert Meyers of 3428 Franklin avenue, one of the colored men who ran to Mrs. Clark's aid. "I would have beat him so that the doctor would still be patching him up."

Meyers slipped when he had almost caught the assailant and a pocketknife which he had opened as he ran cut his hand when he fell.

Mrs. Clark, who is a widow 45 years old, had spent the evening at the little cigar store of her daughter, Mrs. Helen Scott, at 3314 Olive street, to permit the daughter to go to the theater. At 11:30 p. m. she was walking north on Channing avenue in the direction of her home. There were few persons on the street. She heard footsteps behind her after she had passed Morgan street. She quickened her pace and so did the other person.

Dragged Into Alley.

At the corner of the alley between Morgan street and Franklin avenue and within eight feet of a gaslight Mrs. Clark felt an arm suddenly clutch her about the neck and at the same time she was pulled into the alley. She managed to turn her face and look at the man. It was then he struck her.

Sitting about fifty feet in the alley were Bert Meyers and Henry Cites of 3311 Morgan street, colored expressmen. The minute they saw the assault they jumped to the rescue. Mrs. Clark screamed and this frightened the negro. Meyers was within five feet of him when he suddenly turned and dashed out of the alley and south on Channing avenue. Meyers gained on the negro and when almost alongside attempted to grab the fugitive.

"He gave me one glance and leaped away at a speed that was better than anything I could do, and I am something of a runner myself," said Meyers. Meyers lost his balance when he leaned over to grab the fugitive and the chase ended.

Dr. Ebner to Be Cremated.

Dr. Ebner lived in this city for 30 years. He was born in Germany, was a professor in mathematics and astronomy. He served through the Civil War as a surgeon.

STEPPED ON RUSTY NAIL, SUFFERS FROM LOCKJAW

Patient in the Emergency Hospital Is Not Expected to Recover.

Lockjaw threatens the life of Frank P. King, aged 52, who neglected for two weeks a wound inflicted in his foot by a rusty nail. He is now a patient at the Emergency Hospital.

King, who lives at 2218 South Seventeenth street, works for the Missouri Wrecking Co. While employed on a job at Second and Barton streets June 4 he stepped on a nail. It penetrated his shoe and pierced his foot. Although the injury was painful, he continued to work until Tuesday, when he applied for treatment at the City Hospital. He was removed to the emergency institution.

Stiffening of the jaws had commenced before the treatment began and King is not expected to recover.

POLICEMAN IN WOMAN'S AUTO NABS SPEEDER

Patrolman Stinger Hides in Tonneau While She Overtakes Fugitive.

A woman in an automobile offered her car to Policeman Stinger when the police auto broke down in the midst of an exciting chase after a speeder at Grand avenue and Page boulevard.

Stinger sighted a machine with two men in it at Berlin avenue and King's highway. The machine was traveling at a higher speed than the law permits. The police auto pursued and the offender ahead went its best clip to escape.

Both machines went on King's highway to Lindell boulevard, thence to Sarah street, thence to Maryland avenue, thence to Whittier street, thence back to Lindell, thence to Grand and to the corner of Page.

Near Page boulevard the police machine spluttered and slowed down. At last it refused to move. Just at that instant another car came along. It was a big 50-horsepower machine, as large, as powerful and as swift as the big machine Stinger had been chasing. Stinger knew the man running the machine. He hailed him, asking him if he couldn't borrow the machine to catch a scorcher.

Woman Spoke First.

"Indeed you can," shouted the fashionably dressed woman, who was the second passenger in the good Samaritan auto. She did not even wait for her escort's consent.

Stinger was in the tonneau in a twinkling. The engine whirred and away they went, turning off Grand avenue into Page. The chauffeur threw the machine into its top speed, 50 miles an hour or better. The wind hummed in novel fashion in the ears of Stinger. Pedestrians stared in amazement.

At Vandeventer they turned north. The fugitive car had gone that way. At the crossing of Vandeventer and Easton avenues there is a jog, and beyond the view is cut off. The fugitive had run several blocks beyond the jog and its occupants were looking back to watch for the police auto. No police auto came. Instead they saw only another big car, similar to their own. They did not observe Stinger snuggling in the cushioned tonneau.

Stinger's Ruse Worked.

The fugitive slackened its speed and its passengers paid no more heed to the approaching car. It bore down on them like a red streak. It stopped and Stinger, grinning, leaped to the street. He found Stacy Bray of 4383 Westminster place, owner of the offending car, and Claud Mery of 4283 Olive street, Stacy's chauffeur, in the captured machine.

Mery was arrested. Judge Tracy fined him $10 Wednesday morning.

"No, I can't tell you the name of the lady who let me use her car," said Stinger after court adjourned. "That would not be gallant—wouldn't be just exactly square, you know."

WEST ENDERS WANT ROCK ISLAND OPTION EXTENDED

Protective Association Cannot Raise the Money to Purchase Yards.

The West End Protective Association, which obtained options expiring June 15 on the Rock Island Railroad yards, fronting 3000 feet on De Giverville avenue, between Union and De Baliviere avenues, is endeavoring to have the options extended to Dec. 1. The Rock Island has offered to sell the property to the association for $428,368.75, which is the exact amount, without interest and taxes, that the company paid for it several years ago.

James A. Seddon, president of the association, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday that if the options were extended to Dec. 1 he thought the money could be raised to buy the Rock Island's interests.

It is the purpose of the association to accomplish the removal entirely of the Rock Island yards and the depression of the main tracks of the Rock Island and Wabash so as to minimize the injury to residence property in the neighborhood.

W. K. Bixby, E. C. Simmons and Thomas H. West have been active in the work of the association, and it was through their efforts that the options were obtained.

MANY SLAIN IN REVOLT AT KIEV

ST. PETERSBURG, June 19.—Details of the mutiny of sappers at Kiev show that it was suppressed only after a bloody engagement at midnight June 17 between the mutineers and loyal troops, in which about seventy men were killed or wounded.

Kiev is one of the cities where revolutionary ideas have made the greatest inroads on the army and the revolutionary military organization is very powerful, counting among its members dozens of officers.

The mutiny was planned to coincide with a general political strike, as a reply to the dissolution of Parliament, involving the railroads, telegraphs and mails.

All the mutineers will be tried by court-martial.

The workmen employed in a big factory at Kiev struck after the mutiny, but they have not yet been joined by the employes of other factories.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES
No skin disease can exist without an underlying cause, and in most instances that cause is either a humor in the blood or an excess of fiery acids in this vital fluid. These humors and acids getinto the blood, generally because of an inactive and sluggish condition of those members whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse of the body. This unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment, and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood, in its effort to rid itself of this foreign matter, begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin. These coming in contact with the delicate tissues and fibers with which the skin is so abundantly supplied produces irritation and inflammation on the surface, and Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, or some other troublesome and disfiguring skin disease is the result. External applications, while they soothe the itching, and are beneficial in keeping the skin clean, can never cure skin affections, because they do not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only permanent cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers, is the best treatment. It cures by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the circulation so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished and soothed by a cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, removes the foreign matter and thereby permanently cures every form of skin trouble. Do not expect to cure a blood disease with local applications alone, but begin the use of S. S. S., and when you have removed the cause the skin will be free from disease. # NEW BLOSSOM PLAY READY FOR STAGE

St. Louisan's "Transfiguration of Miss Philura" Booked for September Production.

Henry M. Blossom Jr., the St. Louis playwright whose musical comedy, "The Red Mill," was one of the biggest New York hits of the past season, has just completed a new play which will be given a New York production in September, with Charles B. Dillingham as its producing manager.

The play is a dramatic adaptation of Florence Morse Kingsley's sparkling novelette, "The Transfiguration of Miss Philura," and will bear the same title. Blossom has been at work on it for two years, but not until now has he got it into such shape that he is willing to submit it to the test of actual production. The story is rich in delicate comedy, with a central character that makes a strong appeal to lovers of quaint humor.

A peculiar coincidence attaching to the forthcoming production is that Mrs. Kingsley, author of the original story, who was Miss Morse, is the daughter of a Methodist minister, Mr. Blossom, who made the story into a play, is the son of a Presbyterian elder, and Mr. Dillingham, the producer, is the brother of a Baptist preacher.

The company to present "The Transfiguration of Miss Philura" is now being selected and engaged, and rehearsals will probably begin early in July. The play will probably be booked for a St. Louis engagement some time during the coming season.

MIDWEEK NEWS OF AMUSEMENTS

AMELIA BINGHAM is bringing her second season to a brilliant close at Suburban theater. The farewell performance of "The Modern Lady Godiva," the first big play to be produced in a summer play-house for the first time on any stage, takes place Saturday afternoon and night. Between these two performances the Lyric Amusement Co. will, in Miss Bingham's and the Suburban stock company's honor, entertain the local newspaper men at a banquet to be spread on the verandah in the Suburban cafe, just at the point where that jutting structure overhangs the blue Florisant-an Valley, one of the garden spots of Missouri at this season of the year.

The original intention of the management was to play "Mam'selle Marni" once and "One of Our Girls" thrice during the last Bingham week, reserving the other six dates for "The Modern Lady Godiva." But such has been the demand, growing from day to day, to see the Schrader play that on Tuesday afternoon orders were given to abandon the repertoire plan. In consequence, "The Modern Lady Godiva" will remain on the Suburban boards, to and including Next Saturday night. All intending visitors to the theater having purchased tickets for either "Mam'selle Marni" or "One of Our Girls" will be allowed to exchange them for "The Modern Lady Godiva," or, at their choice, money will be refunded. There was no intention to depart from the repertoire plan up to the Tuesday "Bingham souvenir matinee," when the crush became so great as to compel the change. Mr. Lloyd Bingham, who is at present in the East arranging the tour of Miss Bingham to begin in September, has wired his wife that all through Ohio the people have heard of "The Modern Lady Godiva" and they insist on seeing her in the play before her regular season begins. Accordingly all chances for a merited rest for Miss Bingham have gone glimmering. She will put on the new Schrader play in Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Portsmouth, Maysville, Augusta, Ky., and in some cases play quick return dates.

There is ample warrant for the statement that no play put on this year as a summer attraction has attained in so short a time the publicity and the prominence of "The Modern Lady Godiva." Last night at the Suburban, the author, Frederick F. Schrader, expressed himself in the most complimentary terms on this subject. Had he taken his own cue after the fifth recall of Miss Bingham at the close of the third act, he would have gone on the Suburban stage and made public acknowledgement of his indebtedness to Richard Spamer for his services in that relation. Miss Bingham, too, was of the same mind. As a compromise Miss Bingham, as the only lady member of the lodge of Elks in the United States, presented Mr. Spamer with a magnificent gold mounted badge of three elks' teeth, the jewel consisting of an elk's head in solid gold, the eyes of the image being rubies.

Next Sunday night another famed American emotionalist, Virgina Harned, begins a four weeks' engagement, her first offering being Arthur Wing Pinero's celebrated and intense play, "Iris." Miss Harned brings as her leading support, Mr. William Courtenay, one of the most successful young men in the business. All the members of the Suburban stock company, will, according to the management's invariable custom, be retained. Mr. Courtenay plays Lawrence Trenwith, Mr. Van Buren is Archibald Kane, Harry Fenwick, one of the best stock actors in the country, is cast for Frederick Maldonado. Miss Harned plays the title role, Iris Bellamy, and Messrs. Gilbert and McHugh are Croker Harrington and Croker Wynning, respectively. Entirely new scenery has been provided and the play has been in active rehearsal since Monday morning.

Just what a favorite "The Telephone Girl" is with St. Louis theater goers is shown by the crowds attending the performances at Delmar Garden this week. This musical comedy was presented at Delmar last season and was such a hit that it had to be repeated later on, and did an even larger business than during its first week. Comedian John E. Young is at his funniest in the character of Hans Nix, the telephone inspector. The offering at Delmar next week will be "The Isle of Champagne," in which John E. Young followed Thomas Q. Seabrooke, who played the star part in the original production.

At West End Heights this week playgoers are being regaled with Ethel Fuller's version of "Under Two Flags," which was one of the successes of last season at the Heights. Miss Fuller in the role of Cigarettes is making a hit daily with her thrilling ride through the desert sandstorm. Next week, commencing with the matinee Sunday, a gala presentation of "The Sultan's Daughter" will be made. This is a comedy in three acts that made quite a hit recently on the Pacific Coast. Many good wholesome laughs are promised in the interpretation of the piece.

Duss' band is more than meeting expectations at Forest Park Highlands, where it is easily the first factor in drawing large crowds for the Police Relief Association benefit. Every player in that band is an artist in his own individual line. Furnaro, the euphonium player, is an artist of international reputation. All the light music that Duss plays is given with dash and elasticity. The big numbers, demanding careful treatment, really show the merits of the band in their proper light, and Duss in his sympathetic relations as a leader with his band. Col. Hopkins' pavilion show, especially Grace Van Studdiford, Tom Nawn and the Hart Dancing Daisies, is unusually pleasing. When it is considered that Miss Van Studdiford will not be heard here again in a long time, the treat now offered should not be missed.

The climax of the vaudeville summer shows will be reached next week, when the police will have another benefit week of it. The acts are all of stellar magnitude, including the Jackson family of eight bicycle riders, Sam Watson's Barnyard Circus, the peerless Mowatts, club jugglers, Howard and Bland, Lew Sully and last but not least Elizabeth Murray, the coon-song singer.

Harry B. Conwell, who deserted vaudeville a few years ago to take Frank Moulan's part in "The Sultan of Sulu," and who was seen here twice at the Grand, has joined hands with his former partner, George O'Day, and they will play their first return engagement in vaudeville at Mannion's Park next week. Their presentation is a blackface singing, dancing and talking turn. Mr. Conwell is regarded as one of the funniest eccentric dancers on the stage. He is the originator of the "slow buck" dance, which is used with great effect by many comedians. Wells and Sells will present their comedy acrobatic act, "The Chinaman and the Kid," which should prove very entertaining to children visiting the park. Bandy and Wilson, singers and dancers; Huntress, electrical globe dancer, and several other turns will make up the program.

At the orchestra concerts after the show, beginning next Sunday, Mr. Mannion has arranged for the appearance of Joe Lane, a very clever singer of popular songs.

Creatore [illegible] his band are drawing good audiences to Lemp's Park, and the engagement promises to be one of the big successes of the summer season. The programs offered are of great variety, pleasing all tastes, and Creatore's leadership brings out the best individual work of the members of his organization.

Heim's orchestra, the musical attraction at Cherokee Garden, is commending itself to all lovers of good music, and its leader is demonstrating that his personal popularity is as great as in the days when he delighted St. Louisans with his trumpet solos as one of the stars of the Symphony Orchestra at the Tyrolean Alps. Wednesday night is set apart as "press night" at Cherokee Garden, on which occasion local newspaper men will be the guests of the management at the concert and at a dinner to follow.

"The Counterfeiters," a thrilling melodrama, is the offering at Eclipse Garden this week, and the Stanley Stock Company is giving a good production. New specialties and illustrated songs are introduced between the acts.

20 PERCENT OFF MEN'S FINE SUITS

It is conceded that the Stein-Bloch clothes set the pace for American styles, and, in fact, they are handsomer in fit, fabric and finish than any other we have ever seen. Men of good taste who have been in the habit of having their clothes made by high-priced tailors, and who have purchased a "between-season suit" of us, confidently assert that they will not, in future, pay the price that it takes to obtain a suit to order, as the Stein-Bloch Suits are Masterpieces in every respect.

We don't know whether to blame the weather or ourselves—certainly not the clothes, but we have about $20,000 more locked up in men's suits than we like. Commencing today we will give you

AWAITED HER TURN TO ESCAPE DEATH

As the water in a sinking gasoline launch rose about her while her husband swam ashore with their 11-year-old daughter, Mrs. F. O. Murray coolly kept her seat until she was rescued. The accident occurred in the Missouri River opposite the foot of Adams street, St. Charles, Tuesday night.

Murray, proprietor of electric theaters in Alton and St. Charles, was returning from Alton with his family in the launch. In the darkness the shore was obscured as they neared St. Charles, and Murray steered the boat over a well known danger spot where several years ago the steamboat Gage went down, leaving a mass of wreckage just beneath the surface.

A part of the old wreck struck the hull of the launch and instantly it began to fill. The engine stopped as Murray headed for shore, and while they were still well out in the current the launch lost its impetus and began to settle.

Cautioning his wife to keep up her courage, Murray removed his shoes and his coat and, taking the little girl, Florence, let himself over the side of the sinking boat and struck out for shore. Mrs. Murray saw her husband vanish in the darkness as the water rose about her waist in the launch.

Murray gained the shore safely with the little girl. His call for assistance was heard by Thomas Kelly, who sprang into his own launch and went after Mrs. Murray. Throughout the ordeal she was silent until she called to direct her rescuer. As Kelly took her into his launch and started back for shore the damaged launch sank beneath the water.

We go a step farther in our big spotless sanitary kitchens and insist on flavor, and a delicate appeal in goods and package that will tempt the most jaded appetite.

Clymer's Seerop Temtors has a flavor all its own—as distinctive as honey—more subtle than maple and best of all a natural—not an artificial flavor.

It's just the happy combination of pure granulated sugar and the juices of prime sugar-cane. The clever blending of the two accentuates the natural flavor and brings to mind Seerop Temtors on hot biscuits—"No, nothing else—thank you;" or pancakes, or waffles—"No breakfast food this morning, please;" or muffins—but we can't tell you how good—get a can and taste its ambrosial contents. If the flavor shouldn't happen to suit, tell your grocer—he'll give you back your money.

We find our friction-top can is very popular in three sizes—Trial, Intermediate and Large. Take your choice. The "taste test"—money back plan applies to all.

WHITEWASH IS BEING APPLIED TO WINSLOW

That Is Claim Made by Customs Officers at San Diego, Cal.

FRIENDS STOP INQUIRY

Washington Officials Not Anxious to Learn Much of Smuggling.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 19.—The investigation of Commander Cameron McRae Winslow for the smuggling of over a ton of champagne, two cases of cigars, curios and notions, and an immense quantity of gin, is being prevented by heads of the Treasury Department at Washington.

This became evident when it was learned that Acting Secretary Reynolds is the man who issued the special order June 12 to Collector of the Port Frank W. Barnes of San Diego to release Winslow. The customs officers here deny the Collector's report to Secretary Cortelyou stated or even intimated that "finding no fraud had been attempted by officers of the Charleston, he had released the articles on payment of regular duty."

The report sent out from Washington was emphatically denied by customs officers who read Collector Barnes' report to Secretary Cortelyou. They claim that Winslow is being whitewashed at Washington.

Only a Report Ordered.

When the scandal was exposed Secretary Cortelyou wired Collector Barnes to make his report. He did not order Barnes to investigate. The Collector in his report to Cortelyou stated only the circumstances of the affair as they had occurred. The Collector did not tell Cortelyou he had "found no attempt on Winslow's part to smuggle."

"As a matter of fact, the bringing of contraband goods into the United States without paying duty in the first place constitutes smuggling," said a customs officer this morning, "and Commander Winslow did smuggle over a ton of champagne. Not only that, but he went so far as to attempt to ship the goods on the Santa Fe to his Catherine street home in Newport without paying duty."

From the attitude of the customs officers in San Diego familiar with Winslow's case, the wealthiest officer in the United States navy can still be prosecuted for smuggling, if the Treasury Department officials will consent to order a rigid investigation and a full report by Collector Barnes.

The Winslow champagne came from London by way of St. Thomas, Danish West Indies.

There is a very comfortable Saddle for you at 204 North Sixth street.

MODERN PORTIA WINS SUIT AND WEDS OPPOSING LAWYER

California Solon Is Captivated by Young Woman Who Vanquished Him at the Bar.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Miss Emma V. Mullan, daughter of Capt. John Mullan, United States army, retired, and George Russell Lukens, State Senator of California, were married Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, 1310 Connecticut avenue.

Miss Mullan and her sisters, who had been prominent socially here, were thrown on their own resources several years ago and opened a laundry for dainty work in the most fashionable section of the city, just a few doors from the home which had been the scene of their social functions. They maintained the establishment and their social position with equal success, and the laundry is today a flourishing institution.

It was under peculiar circumstances that Miss Mullan and Mr. Lukens first met. There was a claim by the Mullan family against the State of California. Lawyers engaged by the Mullans permitted the case to drag so long that Miss Emma Mullan, the bride of today, went out to California to attend to the matter herself.

She took the case out of the lawyers' hands, acted as her own attorney and fought the case against Mr. Lukens, who had been arrayed on the side of the State. Miss Mullan won and when she returned to her Eastern home she carried not only a snug $50,000, but also the heart of the opposing counsel.

ICE MEN DISCUSSED MARKET

President of Polar Wave Company Admits Spring Meetings.

The hearing before Referee Clifford B. Allen of the ouster suit against the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co. was resumed in the Waightwright Building Wednesday morning. At the hearing Tuesday afternoon Charles W. Whitelaw, president of the Polar Wave Ice Co., was the only witness examined.

Upon examination Mr. Whitelaw said he had been in the ice business since 1893 and that he and John C. Muckermann were the principal promoters of the business in Missouri.

There had never been agreements regarding territory or prices, he declared, although he said that since 1905 there had been meetings of St. Louis ice dealers at which he said general conditions of the ice market had been discussed. He was unable to state the exact time at which these meetings were held, but believed they had taken place in the spring each year.

CONDUCTOR DANGEROUSLY WOUNDS BOY BY A KICK

Harry Snyder, Who Jumped on Platform to Sell Papers, Is Knocked Into Gutter.

A conductor's kick sent Harry Snyder, a 10-year-old newsboy, tumbling into the street from the rear step of an Olive car running east at Compton avenue at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. Other newsboys picked Harry from the gutter and he was removed to the City Hospital.

Evidence of internal injuries was found by the surgeons Wednesday, and it was said that his condition was critical.

The boy could not remember the number of the car or of the conductor, but the police hope that some of the platform passengers who witnessed the conductor's act will furnish data which will make his arrest possible.

The boy "hopped" the car to sell papers, and was met by the conductor, who kicked him in the stomach.

Members deposit every day with Secretary George H. Morgan of the Exchange a memorandum of the day's sales and a sum sufficient to meet the tax.

HER CHILDREN OBJECTED, SO WIDOW OF 50 ELOPED

Mrs. Adeline Buschhorn and Henry J. Puetz Married in St. Charles.

Mrs. Adeline M. Buschhorn, aged 50 years, and Henry J. Puetz, of the same age, eloped to St. Charles Monday afternoon and were married by Justice M. J. Frey. The children of Mrs. Buschhorn objected to her marriage.

The acquaintance of the couple began two years ago when they met at a social gathering, since then the attraction has increased until they decided to wed.

Mr. Puetz obtained a divorce from his former wife during the March term of the Circuit Court. The bride and groom are living at 4868 St. Louis avenue.

M'CLOSKEY IS TO STAY SAYS PRES. ROBISON

Story That Cardinals' Manager Is Slated to Go Emphatically Denied.

SELEE IS NOT COMING

Other Housecleaning Efforts Will Be Kept Up, However.

MANAGER McCLOSKEY is to remain at the helm for Stanley Robinson. A dispatch printed in the Minneapolis Journal under a St. Louis date stated that John J. McCloskey was to retire at the close of the present season and give way to Frank Selee, who made himself famous in the baseball world as a successful manager of the old Boston Nationals and later became the head of the Chicago Cubs.

The dispatch runs: "The present manager has cleaned house thoroughly and owns some good players, but he simply cannot get the work out of them by his rather autocratic methods. Selee's health has vastly improved and it is said that he is once more able to take care of a big league team. If Selee comes here it is understood that he will make some changes in the team."

A copy of the paper was shown to President Stanley Robinson of the Cardinals and the chief executive boiled with anger. After reading the dispatch very attentively he said, "its an absolute falsehood. I am willing to tell the fellow so who wrote that. He is nothing but a trouble maker and a mean one at that. I am perfectly satisfied with McCloskey and that is very evident. He is a very capable manager and his record proves it.

Thinks Mack All Right.

"Let that fellow show me that McCloskey has not a better team now than when he took hold of the management for me. Did the old Cardinals ever play every team that visited our grounds to a standstill as the cardinals have been doing of late? Look at the way we have lost our games. Three to two, two to one and one to nothing is the makeup of all our scores. The boys are fighting every inch of the way and when they get some confidence and get into a winning stride, though the scores may be just as close, they will be in our favor and you know it, too.

"In another season the Cardinals will surprise the entire [illegible] Let me ask for waivers for [illegible] of my men and you will s[illegible] the other major league clubs wou[illegible] ramble for a few of them. If they are good enough for other clubs, why not the Cardinals?

"Let me say once and for always that McCloskey is the manager of the Cardinals and that I am going to keep him."

With this settles the matter as far as McCloskey is concerned, other members of the Cardinals are not so fortunate. Two men have been returned to the minors and waivers have been asked on old Jake Beckley.

Kelley Goes Back.

John Kelley has been returned to the Baltimore Orioles. "Lefty" Shields, whom McCloskey secured from the Altoona club in exchange for Carl Druhot last month, has been sent to the Montgomery team, where rests the good or ill fortune of Mose Baxter, a candidate for first base early this season.

Jake Beckley has not shown up to his standard with the bat and is getting slower on his feet in fielding the first position. He is still a well preserved athlete and in the morning practice he works harder and longer than any member of the team.

Jake's name will go down in history as a first baseman and he is still good for the better minor league teams, and it would not be surprising if some club secured his consent to manage a team. He has been offered the management of several clubs previous to this season, but Beckley cares not for fame as a manager and does not wish to assume its many responsibilities. He likes the game as well as any amateur, who would rather play than eat, but that is all the game that interests old Jake.

Shields Very Wild.

Shields was given two try-outs with McCloskey and in both games he made a miserable showing. He was so wild that the fans begged the Cardinal manager to cage him. He worked in a game against Boston, and the Beaneaters sent seven men across the plate before the inning came to an end. In a game with New York on the local grounds the Giants made a monkey of him and eight men scored before Karger, who replaced him, could get them in hand.

Kelly was considered by the baseball critics over the circuit as one of the best finds of the year. His work in the spring series with the Browns was a distinct feature and there seemed no doubt that he would make good. He is a splendid fielder and posseses an excellent arm and plays a heady game, but he is woefully weak with the stick.

His work with the Baltimore Orioles last season was encouraging and Ned Hanlon predicted a good year for him with the Cardinals and said he had the stuff in him. He goes back, but he will be watched, and another year with the Baltimore team will do him good and he may regain his confidence.

McCloskey is always on the market for good ball players and it will not be surprising to hear of some trades or the securing outright for cash several good stickers, which seems to be the Cardinals' weak point.

The Suburban Handicap.

The Suburban Handicap will be run tomorrow over the famous Sheepshead Bay track. Indications point to a large and splendidly balanced field of starters. A more classy lot of thoroughbreds has never been engaged in this event than will try for the $20,000 on this occasion. The 3-year-olds appear more formidable in the present contest than in any preceding one.

GOLFERS WORK FOR BIG MEET

City Championship Tourney On for Saturday at the Normandie Links.

The Normandie golf links which are to be the scene of the city championship Saturday, were yesterday crowded with players preparing for the big week end event. Entrants from the other clubs, as well as the Normandie, have been playing regularly on its course this week so as to become more familiar with it by the day of play.

The Country Club contingent have been out very consistently and are in great measure thoroughly conversant with all the characteristics and peculiarities of the course. As usual the Clayton club is picked to furnish the winner in the tournament, and the manner in which Stewart and Arthur Stickney, Ralph McKittrick and Charles Scudder have been playing on the tournament links the past few days, would seem to indicate that either one of this quartet stands a royal chance of annexing the championship cup.

Glen Echoes Lucky.

On account of the close proximity of the Glen Echo Club to the Normandie, the members of the former have been playing over the fields of the latter daily and should be more at home on the course Saturday than any of the other visiting entrants.

Harry Allen, the Fields Club's sterling golfer, has not as yet been seen visiting the St. Charles Road Club, and it is reported he has not been playing as much as usual this spring. But if he strikes his game during the championships he is bound to prove a very important factor in determining the winner.

In Good Form.

Bart Adams and Chris Kinney of the Algonquin Club, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the State championship last year, according to the "wise caddies" who have been carrying their sticks on their practice rounds, are in superb form and there will be a fortune in golf balls lost by the speculative-inclined among them if Kenny especially does not make a splendid showing.

Of course, out of the field of 96 players there are bound to spring up some of the proverbial "dark horses," but at present no one has been able to distinguish any entrant of such a [illegible] though Aleck Skinker of the Triple A, Sim Price of Glen Echo and "Doc" Paine of the Normandie are said to be given special 'preps" for the big event and will bear watching Saturday.

MILLERS-SEALS GAMES SUNDAY

Good Double Header Attraction in Trolley League Arranged for Kulage's Park.

The Kulage Park management has arranged an attraction for their park next Sunday which will undoubtedly prove popular with the followers of the Trolley League. The attraction will be a double-header between the White Seals, the present leaders, and the Ben Millers, who are in second position, owing to the fact that they have played one game less than the Seals. It also marks the first meeting of these two teams of the semi-professional ranks, as one of the games to be played Sunday was postponed from May 5 on account of rain, while the other one is the regular scheduled game for Sunday.

Up to the present time these two clubs have proved to be the premier ones of the Trolley League, and, strange to say, their style of playing and method of winning games is entirely different. In batting the Seals rank last, while the Ben Millers lead the league by a big margin; in fielding the Seals lead the entire league, while the Millers as a team rank third; it is on the bases where the leaders shine as they are in a class by themselves and it is in this department that Capt. Barrett attributes his team's great success, and he claims that in Sudhoff, Neilds and Cooney he has the best pitching staff in the league, and feels confident that he will capture both games.

The Ben Millers, since signing Ammans to play left field, are considered by good judges to have the most evenly balanced team seen in St. Louis in late years, while as batters they are in a class by themselves.

A FEW WORDS FROM THE BATTLER

By Robert Edgren.

"A 'spite match,' hey?" said Pat Nelson, as we sat down in a quiet corner of a Los Angeles cafe a few nights ago. "Well, I don't know what you call it, but I'll tell you one thing—I'd fight Britt for nothing if I could skin Coffroth out of a dollar by doing it. All I want is to put Coffroth's fight on the bum. I'll fight Britt on the third, and there won't be no coin left for Squires and Burns."

"But Squires-Burns will be the card," I suggested.

"Britt and me's the card," insisted Nelson, doggedly. "I'm the card. We'll get the money. But I ain't caring how much we draw if I only put Coffroth on the bum."

"And then," I went on, "you're taking a chance with Britt. You have been out of the ring for a long time, and so has he; but he's in training now. He may whip you."

"Huh!" exclaimed Bat. "I ain't taking no chances. I don't never, never need no more than three weeks' training. I'm good now. After I fought Gans they said I was all broke up. I laid in my room a week. Then I died! Huh! I guess Gans was the one laid up. There wasn't no more fight in him when I knocked him down with a blow on the liver. Sure! I hit him right on the liver.

"I'll lick Britt, and then I'll come back and lick this Summers guy that chased me out of England. Then I'm going over to England again myself."

HERE a famous Los Angeles scribe, what sat at the table, called the Japanese waiter.

"Mine's milk," said Nelson.

Half the milk went down Bat's irrigation canal.

"You won't outdraw Squires-Burns if you fight July 3," said the scribe. "I'll bet you right now your fight won't come off first. You're not so popular on the coast as you were before the Gans fight."

Bat's face took on a dark flash.

"How do you figure that?" he asked.

"Your foul fighting turned everybody against you."

"I never fought foul," growled Nelson.

"I saw you."

"I didn't fight foul," insisted the Dane.

"Do you remember when Gans helped you up, and"—

"Yes," snapped Nelson. "I fell through the ropes and he tried to help me up and I punched him in the stomach. I did right. He was trying to get me up quick so he could take another punch at me."

"NOW, look here, Bat," insisted the scribe, "I was one of a hundred newspaper men who sat at the ringside. We all came there hoping to see you win. Before the fight was over we were all against you to a man. We did not care for the black man, but we wanted to see you get your head knocked off to pay for your foul work. Why, you butted"—

"I didn't butt," interrupted the Dane. "I was just rubbing my hair in his eyes. I soaked it in alkali water and when it dried out it was stiff as wire. Then I had my whiskers about a quarter of an inch long. Why, I didn't do a thing with them wire whiskers when I fought Britt last time. I rubbed them on him in the clinches until the side of his neck and one shoulder was like a steak. He was covered with blood. That whisker punch is one of my best." And the Dane grinned wickedly.

"Do you call that fair?"

"SURE. That wasn't nothing to what Gans done to me," said Bat. "He had his hair clipped close a week before the fight. His head was covered with hard little bristles twisted like corkscrews and every time he twisted his nut against my face he nearly took the hide off. My wire hair wasn't nothing to his corkscrews. Kid McCoy didn't never have no corkscrew punch like tha."

Here Bat summoned the Japanese and ordered a round. "You bring me a lemonade instead of this milk," he ordered. "It's sour. I'll take a lemonade instead and you take it off the bill."

"Tom Sharkey runs a bad second to you," said the scribe. I thought you did not care for money."

"I don't when I can skin Coffroth," replied Nelson, "but I ain't going to let no Jap bartender charge me for sour milk."

FREDDIE WEEKS BEATS BOSTON JIMMY WALSH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DENVER, Colo., June 19.—Freddie Weeks of Cripple Creek secured a decision over Jimmie Walsh of Boston in 10 rounds at the Denver Athletic Club last night. Weeks weighed 120 and Walsh 113½. Weeks won by rough tactics in the clinches and by holding Walsh's glove and hammering away. At the long range work the Boston man held his own, but he suffered in the close work. There was not a knockdown during the battle. The fight came near postponement because of the small crowd. Eddie Keevan, manager for Walsh, declining to put his man in the ring until a thousand dollars had been put up by the club. Weeks' backer, Durand of Cripple Creek, has posted a thousand for a match with Abe Attell.

Charming young ladies will assist in selling crackerjack at the game while prominent advertising men will sell red-hots and peanuts.

Mr. Sig. J. Lang and daughter, Vivienne, who have been visiting in Cincinnati, guests of Sinton Hotel, left Sunday for Atlantic City.

Mr. Kent is Jamestown Host.

Mr. Henry T. Kent of St. Louis is at present a visitor at Jamestown, being a member of the Missouri State Commission. Recognizing the presence of a large number of Missouri friends who are Exposition visitors, Mr. Kent this week gave a Missouri luncheon at the Missouri State Buildin, inviting many guests who are attending the National Editorial Association at Jamestown.

A photograph of the group and building was taken during the course of the luncheon by the official exposition photographer. The long luncheon table was attractively arranged with flowers and the national colors, combined with the Missouri State emblem, the shield upheld by two bears being prominently displayed.

The Missouri guests at this interesting function were:

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Gray, Sturgeon; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harris, Sturgeon; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Purcell, Fredrichtown; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wood and daughter, Laredo; Mrs. A. E. Parkhurst, Laredo; Mr. Ovh Bell and Miss Frances Bell, Fulton; Miss Georgina Raby, St. Louis; Mr. Walter Williams, Columbia; Mr. J. W. Jacks, Montgomery; Mr. W. E. Newbill, Springfield; Mr. E. J. Crumbaugh, Columbia.

Buel—Bradley.

The marriage of Mrs. Maris Buel and Mr. George Edwin Bradley will take place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buel, on South Grand avenue. Mrs. B. F. Hammett Jr. will be matron of honor and Mr. Elliott Bradley will serve his brother as best man. After an informal reception the bride and bridegroom will depart for a long Eastern trip. On their return they will go to housekeeping at the new home which Mr. Bradley is completing in Glenwood, just opposite the Glen Echo Golf Club.

Miss Mae Spring and Miss Clifford Hall of Delmar boulevard, leave for Chicago Monday for a two-weeks' visit to Miss Hattie May Miller and Miss Lyle Comstock.

Mrs. Laurie Entertains.

Mrs. S. A. Laurie of McPherson avenue gave a reception at her home between 3 and 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Laurie left the same evening for a visit of three months with her mother, Mrs. L. B. Johnston, who has a summer home at Castleton, Vt. During the afternoon Mrs. Laurie entertained 50 ladies, assisted by the following friends: Mmes. O. L. Barker of the Hamilton Hotel, John Wetherby of Kansas City, M. L. Judson of McPherson avenue, D. Cramer of Westminster place, William J. Carr of Kansas City and W. L. Woods of Maplewood.

Hartmann—Freund.

Miss Sophia Hartmann and Mr. Milton Freund were married Tuesday evening, the ceremony being performed at 6 o'clock at Rebman's by Rev. Dr. Spitz. Miss Selma Hartmann attended her sister as maid of honor and Arthur Freund was the bridegroom's best man. Miss Raye Wohl was the only bridemaid.

The bride, who is an exceptionally pretty girl, wore a lingerie robe of lace and a tulle veil fastened to the hair with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies fringed with maiden hair.

The maid of honor and bridemaid were in white embroidered batiste, carrying showers of bridemaid roses.

A large reception to friends followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Freund departed for a trip to Jamestown and the Atlantic resorts. They will go to housekeeping late in the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Hough are guests at the Chalfonte in Atlantic City. Messrs. A. J. Wand and W. R. Chandler are also guests.

The graduating exercises of the Conrath Conservatory will take place Wednesday evening at the Odeon.

The J. G. F. will leave the Union Station Thursday at 9:35 a. m. in their special car for Allenton, Mo., where is their country club. They will entertain their friends for four days at a house party. Arrangements have been made to attend a country dance Saturday evening.

Since the Federal Court beer decision, Kansas is more of a State Rights State than she was at one time.

There will be a shower of new votes for Roosevelt or his choice if the Government downs the Umbrella Trust.

The President's gun is now almost a daily exhibit. He should put some lead in his coat to hold down the tails.

VITAL TERMINAL POINTS.

Two points of importance were brought out in the discussion of the wharf terminal bill before the Council Railroad Committee. One point to be determined was the effect of the building up of the wharf to the harbor line and the use of the space for tracks on river traffic now and in the future.

If, as Capt. Isaac Nason said, the extension of the wharf to the harbor line will so disturb currents that the usefulness of the river would be seriously impaired, and the construction of a yard with tracks would seriously interfere with the river traffic of the future, the bill should not be passed. This point can be determined. On the question of navigation the opinion of the United States engineers would be decisive. An unfavorable opinion on this point was indicated in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch.

The question of interference with traffic can be decided by men of experience. The revival of traffic on the Mississippi is certain to come. St. Louis must be in a position to take the fullest possible advantage of it.

If it should be found possible to locate team tracks on the river front, the city's land should be rented on just terms. The compensation should be sufficient. In no event should any franchise be granted that would not guarantee that the tracks are open to the use of all railroads on reasonable terms.

It is clear that some of our naval officers are staunch free traders, in spite of the smuggling laws.

AT LAST.

The man, Diogenes sought has finally turned up. He is Leonard Marsden of Taunton, Mass.

Leonard was wed the other day. With the girl of his choice upon his arm, he honeymooned to New York. They were going through the Grand Central Station, with their bags and their great happiness, when the bride tripped. What she tripped on was no banana, but a big roll of bank notes bound around with a rubber band. There seemed to be millions in it. Actually, there were thousands. Young Mr. Marsden picked it up, looked around enough to satisfy himself that the money was utterly lost, and inquired for the nearest police station, where he turned the roll over to the Lieutenant.

If there is any one time more than another when one wishes for more money, it is during that all-bliss tour popularly known as the wedding trip. It is a season in which the savings of a long courtship can take wings in a day. In the stress of its exigencies, bridegrooms have disappeared and gone home for more. Out of the depths of its pitfalls, even brides have wired for help. In the fell swoop of its disaster, man goes in his thinnest armour to meet the monster temptation.

Hang up the lantern. He is found.

One Missouri Sheriff has volunteered to assist another at a triple hanging. Patriotism is not dead in the Imperial State.

PROSPERITY EXPLAINED.

Between Sept. 1, 1906, and the middle of June, this year, the net receipts of cotton in St. Louis warehouses was 108,890 bales, as against 69,927 bales for the corresponding period of 1906.

In spite of the improbability that the bulk of the cotton for Europe will ever be deflected from the gulf ports, the figures show not only what the Northern movement of the crop means now, but also what it may be made to mean.

The St. Louis opening as a cotton market which has no visible limits to its growth, is in receipts for export, only as an incident of receipts for manufacture. The report of the Federal Bureau of Statistics, published this week, shows that the cotton exports for the year ending with June, 1907, reach the enormous total of $500,000,000 in value.

This half a billion is not in inflated values of any kind. It is cash in its purchasing and debt-paying power at its face value. It breaks all records and against it the official figures show for 10 years an increase of only 6 per cent in the total percentages of the crop manufactured in the United States.

When we manufacture 71 instead of 41 per cent of the total crop at home, shipping the finished products instead of the raw, the probable result will be the doubling of cash in St. Louis territory.

But we need not go beyond the total of $500,000,000 cash from Europe in a single year for raw cotton alone to account for prosperity. Without political "fostering" of any kind, it was dug out of our own ground. It means that St. Louis has an opportunity to be, and ought to be, the greatest cotton manufacturing city, and hence the greatest primary cotton market, of the world.

The great carnival, celebrating the revival of the Mississippi, on the occasion of the President's visit next October is taking form under the capable direction of Commodore Russell Gardner. The President, with the Governors of 20 states, will see a rare spectacle on the river. Among the events of the carnival will be the Marathon race and a parade of the fleet embracing all of the available steamboats and launches in St. Louis harbor. To this fleet should be added boats from every port on the Mississippi and from Chicago. The meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock to arrange the details of the carnival should be well attended. The event will be of the greatest importance to St. Louis.

THE ICE AND MILK FUND.

The coming of hot weather suggests the need of the poor babies for pure, cool milk and of the sick poor of all ages for ice. Every year the readers of the Post-Dispatch have made it possible to have sufficient ice delivered to every destitute family to enable it to have cold water and to keep food in good condition. Every year they have supplied the sick poor with ice. Every year since the Pure Milk Commission has been at work they have enabled the little children of the poor to have pure milk, cooled with ice.

The work of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Ice Fund is one of the best and most needful charities. It has brought health and comfort to thousands of persons and checked mortality among the poor babies. It has brought the glow of health to the cheek of the emaciated children of the tenements. Last year all the ice required for the poor was purchased out of this fund and the Pure Milk Commission was enabled to maintain stations all the year round.

The work ought not to fail this year, and we do not believe that our readers will permit it to fail. What will you give to the fund?

The situation in the circuit courts on account of the uncertainty with regard to the office of Jury Commissioner is unfortunate. The hearing of many cases is postponed and the jury canvass has been held up until the question of incumbency is settled. The case ought to be decided as soon as possible.

WHAT AMAZED HIM.

After getting out into the open air, or at least looking out into it in the country west and southwest of St. Louis, between Clifton Heights and Oklahoma City, Hon. James Bryce is amazed. He is amazed unofficially as British Ambassador, not only by what he sees in the open air, but also by his recollection of the "absurdities" of what he has been told about it by sedentary people, bookworms and other Eastern dwellers in the gloom necessary to prevent artistic carpets and furniture from fading.

"Amazed" is the word Mr. Bryce uses, emphatically if unofficially. Of course, he is logical in his conclusion, but even if it is logical to tell them so, it will be painful to them and certainly useless, until they, too, have opportunities to see what lies under the open air in the sweep from the top of an Ozark hill or in the scope of a transmississippi prairie.

Bookworms are useful to both East and West, but the number of things they do not know about the limitless opportunity to learn by crossing the Mississippi into the greatest open air country of the world, grows amazing at once to any one who does cross into it. Of course, their absurdity grows correspondingly amazing, but it really makes no difference, you know. The main thing is the inevitable enlargement the open air west of the Mississippi makes in the intellectual horizon of those who actually go into it.

Some of the ministers resent the Rev. Goodson's assertion that people pay more attention to sports and amusements than to church. Unquestionably, the Sunday baseball crowds are immense and the cars that are heavily overloaded are not those carrying church people.

WAS HE LOOKING FOR SAGER?

The baby octopus that arrived in town—supposedly on the wings of the wind—where did he come from and what was he looking for?

The theory that he came from the neighborhood of the Gulf is plausible. Texas has an unfriendly climate for octopuses. They do not thrive there. Even Senator Bailey passes by on the other side when he sees one. If he came from the West, he would naturally pass over Kansas, where rewards are out for octopus tentacles. The interior of the State of Missouri might be an unlucky place, because he might meet Attorney-General Hadley, who would not be at all confused by the cloud of ink which the little rascal spreads around himself.

But why did he pick St. Louis as a good place in which to drop? Was he looking for Circuit Attorney Sager?

If the planets have been stealing the sun's heat from us, then the sun is not cooling, as has been asserted. What could we do without scientific explanations of all phenomena?

TWO TYPES.

From the New York Press.

There are two great men in this country of ours. There are also two great forms of solid matter, colloid and crystalloid. The colloidal man is like India rubber, the other like a cut gem. One is without form and yet capable of assuming every form, the other is as definite as an axiom.

JUST A MINUTE
WITH POST-DISPATCH POETS AND HUMORISTS

AN ASPIRANT.

I have recently written a book,
A record of strange observations
I've made in odd corner and nook
Within the brief span of vacations.
I've had an adventure or so,
Though none of such danger I'd boast it,
And my book may catch on—I don't know—
I wonder if Teddy would roast it?

I have seen a few bear in my time,
And the trail is my dearest diversion,
I can yearn for a mountain to climb,
And I have the tame country aversion.
I have camped a great deal in the woods
And I've seen of wild things such a host, it
Would seem that my book were the goods—
I wonder if Teddy would roast it?

I have heard an old ram mountain sheep
Play popular tunes on his horns,
I have had the adventure to creep
On a grizzly bear trimming his corns.
I have seen a track made for a sled
By wild goats, and witnessed them coast it,
And I've much that is true to be said—
I wonder if Teddy would roast it?

I have known a wolf pounce from a tree
On a deer by a wild mountain path,
And I've seen a big puma take three
Bars of soap and indulge in a bath.
I have seen a black bear steal the bread,
Build a fire with a sun-glass and toast it,
And I've much to be eagerly read—
I wonder if Teddy would roast it?

I have other tales equally rare,
Including bear hunting with ferrets,
But I don't want the volume to fare
Forth on no more than its merits.
A book that will sell is a mint,
And I want to make with it the most it
Is capable of—by some dint
I must induce Teddy to roast it.

ON THE ICE WAGON.

Driver: Do you think the company ought to stand the wagon meltage?

Tongs-on-Behind: Rather a fine point, that. It's not the company's fault that its's hot, nor is it the consumer's.

Driver: But wouldn't you say it is the fault of the consumer that he lives so far from the ice plant?

T. O. B.: Not any more than it is the fault of the company that the plant is remote from the consumer's refrigerator.

Driver: You hold, then, that they should bear the meltage share and share alike?

T. O. B.: Yes, provided the company uses covered wagons, delivers rapidly over short routes, and does everything it can to prevent meltage.

The entire load having melted during the discussion, the wagon started back to the plant, followed by the imprecations of exasperated patrons.

THE NEW MOTHER.

"My son," said Mrs. Newlite, "don't enter the battle of life with any false notions about your qualifications. You have in you the making of the average successful American. You have no genius, you don't know much, you are not clever, you are not a humanitarian, and you did miserably at school, but you always fought with the other boys, and you have never cared what anybody thought."

"Good for you, mother," he said. "Blessed is the son whose mother is no bromide."

LINES TO A LAUNDRY.

Written in Honor of the Laundrymen's Convention Held in St. Louis This Week.

By Clark McAdams.

HOW does the laundryman launder a shirt? You mean where machinery takes out the dirt?
Why, he pulls out a lever, and in the receiver he hurriedly drops it. The hot water sops it,
A soap-runner soaps it, another one dopes it, a steaming vat stews it, a pair of flails bruise it,
A rubber belt bears it to where a wheel tears it, a big cog wheel chews it, some ding-bats misuse it,
A wooden crane dips it, a steel wringer rips it, and when its is torn up, the pieces are borne up
To where all the glue is, and there what they do is to sort and assemble till it shall resemble
Some part of its former contour. To the warmer it goes for a parching, and then to the starching—
This brief explanation (pray do not expire in it) sufficing until we shall get where they iron it.
This latter's a mention of dev'lish invention, of smoke that arises, and many surprises.
The huge rollers turn it, and all duly burn it, and sharp bits of casting take hold where it's lasting,
And hungrily gnaw it, and ruthlessly chaw it, and shirts worth a dollar are spoiled round the collar,
And sleeves are there fated to be mutilated, the bosom is pecked at until it is wrecked at
The holes where it buttons, and divers steel gluttons have eaten the tail till it gapes as a sail will
That winds have been tearing for people sea-faring, and if we'd behold it held up when they fold it,
One scarce would believe it one's shirt, nor receive it—which epic, though gory, is no fairy story.

THE SLANGY GIRL

Hints for Young Lady Readers of the Post-Dispatch

By Betty Vincent.

ARE you a slangy girl?

I don't mean a girl that uses an occasional slang word, for slang properly used is the sauce piquante of conversation, and only the worst kind of male and female old fogies avoid its use altogether. I mean a girl whose entire vocabulary seems limited to such expressions as these:

"Gee, what a swat!" "Isn't that a scream?" "Well, that is the limit!" and other similar choice expressions.

If a man's ideal of earthly bliss is that of some day hearing your rosy lips breathe the phrase, "I love you!" it does not add either to the value or the poetry of his anticipation for those same lips to exclaim when he makes some criticism of his hated rival. "Gee what a swat!"

A man may not be very poetical himself. He may use all sorts of slang himself. But as a rule he prefers the girl he loves to be a little bit conservative in her speech. He hears street slang at its brightest and newest. When it gets to you it is apt to be very, very old from his standpoint. It does not amuse him, but simply sends a shock through the rosy fabric of illusion he has wrought about your image. Don't do it.

STUDY OF CHAMPAGNE PRODUCTION.

THE conclusion of the Bureau of Statistics from the study of the champagne production in the United States is that the quantity of genuine fermented-in-the-bottle "champagne" wine produced in this country at present is nearly one-half as great as the importation of wine of the same general class; or, in other words, that about one-third of the genuine champagne wine now consumed in this country is of domestic production and the proportion, which the home product forms of the total, is rapidly increasing.

A Spiritual Suggestion for Today

LEARN to measure with your pitiful thoughts the tortures of battle-fields; the slowly consuming plagues of death in the starving children and wasted age of the innumerable desolate those battles left; nay, in our own life of peace, the agony of unnurtured, untaught, unhelped creatures, awaking at the grave's edge to know how they should have lived; those to whom the cradle was a curse, and for whom the words they cannot hear, "ashes to ashes," are all they have ever received of benediction.—John Ruskin.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

No Work for Woman of 55.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

S. B. and C.'s letter in the Post-Dispatch is the experience of many others who have reached the age of 50 years, an age when a man should be in his prime, with faculties unimpaired, in good health, moral and sober, and with the experience, judgment and knowledge of human nature that make his services valuable. But this is an age of cheapness. Business firms would rather employ blundering boys at paltry wages than men of reliability at a decent salary.

I sympathize with the writer because I am drifting in the same boat, the only difference being that I am a woman, and 55, but I am strong and healthy, conscientious in the performance of every duty, an experienced housekeeper, a good nurse and proficient in all kinds of sewing, and yet I cannot work. When I have personally applied for employment I have been mentally told that I was "too old." I am too proud to go to the Poorhouse, and when my larder is empty I draw my belt tighter and try to forget it. I have come to the conclusion that Dr. Osler is not far wrong, and rather than live on charity I would take his advice and preserve my independence.

ISOBETHE.

Hale, the Giant.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Glancing over the Evening Post of this city I saw an article headed "Some Modern Giants," accredited to you.

Several were mentioned by name and the last paragraph was devoted to one Robert Haley, the Norfolk giant.

I have seen this man, not in a show room, but outside, in the open, and I never met a finer figure of a man—large and well proportioned as he, an incident recalls him to my memory. It was in the early fifties, 1852, I think. The French and English were trying to frighten each other and Napoleon the "Little" was packing his warships off the coast. They both had camps of instruction, which everybody visited. About 20 miles out of London, at Chatham, if I recollect, the troops were mustered just beyond the railroad station. On arrival of the train out got a man 7½ feet high, named Hale, or Haley, as you have it. He called a cab. Always on the alert, Cabby went in for extortion like Frisco's Mayor, charged him a guinea, which he declined, and mounting the omnibus box, took a seat beside the driver. Meanwhile I forgot to get inside and had to walk, I was so engaged in admiration of the man.

Charleston, S. C. WILLIAM SIMONS.

Dr. Goodson's Strictures.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have just read Rev. Goodson's sermon. I do not agree with him when he says that ministers are required to meet 35 conditions with $1 pay. The trouble nowadays is the majority of ministers are preaching for salary and an easy job and not for the salvation of souls, consequently poor results. He advocates a new type of ministers, a better educated and higher priced man. We have them educated so highly today that they stand head and shoulders above God and the Bible; they are in constant dispute with one another as to the meaning of God's words. The world at large has become doubtful and have caused not a few to grope after false gods.

The dead past is dead, he says. A book of 10 years ago is out of date. Is that so? What's the matter with all of our old poets and writers of prose? What's wrong about the old compositions of Mozart, Beethoven, Wagner, and, last, but not least by any means, what's wrong with the word of God—the Bible. Throw it away? That would suit some twentieth century men and preachers, too, and there is just the trouble. Whatever we need is truly converted preachers and God will do the rest.

Public School Names.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Euphony should, in my opinion, govern the naming of the public schools. As a matter of fact the use of numbers would probably be best. Besides, the valor of most living heroes is to be questioned. Nearly all of them ran away; those who did not are on the battlefield yet. BILLY MIRROR.

First crop probably best.

MRS. L. A. R.—Blackberry jelly: Take fruit just ripe, pick over but do not wash and stand in thick agateware kettle in pan boiling water till berries are soft, keeping well covered so that berries will steam. Mash fruit and hang it in a bag over night. Measure juice in morning and to each pint take three-quarters pint sugar. Boil juice 20 minutes while sugar heats in oven; dissolve sugar in it and when clear boil up juice and sugar only once. Pour into glasses and when firm cover with paraffine. (Jams are made by weighing the whole fruit, washing, slicing and putting in sufficient water to cook it well; then, when cool, rubbing it through a fine sieve, and with this pulp, putting in as much sugar as there was of the fruit only, and cooking it very carefully until the weight of the jam is the same as the fruit and added sugar; the water, you see, is all gone; and this is easily told by having previously weighed the dish in which you are cooking it.)

THE STEADFAST TIN SOLDIER

...tE were once upon a time 25 ... soldiers—all brothers, as they ...re made out of the same old ... Their uniform was red and ...d they shouldered their guns ...ked straight in front of them. ...t words that they heard in this ...when the lid of the box in which ...y was taken off, were: "Hur... soldiers!" This was exclaimed ...tle boy, clapping his hands; they ...en given to him because it was ...hday, and now he began setting ...out on the table. Each soldier ...actly like the other in shape, ex...ust one, who had been made last ... the tin had run short; but there ...ood as firmly on his one leg as ...others did on two, and he is the ...that became famous.

...ere were many other playthings on ...table on which they were being set ... but the nicest of all was a pretty ...e castle made of cardboard, with ...dows through which you could see ...the rooms. In front of the castle ...d some little trees, surrounding a ... mirror, which looked like a lake. ...k swans were floating about and re...ing themselves in it. That was all ... pretty; but the most beautiful ...g was a little lady who stood in ... open doorway. She was cut out of ...er, but she had on a dress of the ...st muslin, with a scarf of narrow ... ribbon round her shoulders, fast...d in middle with a glittering rose, ...de of gold paper, which was as large ...her head. The little lady was stretch...g out both her arms, for she was a ...ncer, and was lifting up one leg so ...h in the air that the tin soldier ...dn't find it anywhere, and thought ...t she, too, had only one leg.

"That's the wife for me!" he thought; ...t she is so grand and lives in a cas... while I have only a box with 24 ...rs. This is no place for her! But ...st make her acquaintance."

...n he stretched himself out behind ...ff box that lay on the table; from ... he could watch the dainty little ... who continued to stand on one ...thout losing her balance.

... clock struck 12, and crack! off ...e lid of the snuff box: but there ... snuff inside, only a little black ...at was the beauty of it.

"...o, tin soldier!" said the imp. ... look at things that aren't in... for the likes of you!"

...he tin soldier took no notice and ...d not to hear.

"...ry well, wait till tomorrow!" said ...mp.

When it was morning and the children had got up, the tin soldier was put in the window; and whether it was the wind or the little black imp I don't know, but all at once the window flew open and out fell the little tin soldier, head over heels, from the third-story window! That was a terrible fall, I can tell you! He landed on his head with his leg in the air, his gun being wedged between two paving stones.

...oon it began to drizzle; then the ...ps came faster and there was a reg... downpour. When it was over two ... street boys came along.

"...ust look!" cried one. "Here is a tin ...ier! He shall sail up and down in ...at!"

... they made a little boat out of ... paper, put the tin soldier in it, and ... him sail up and down the gutter; both the boys ran along beside him, clapping their hands. All at once the boat passed under a long tunnel that was as dark as his box had been.

Suddenly there came along a great water rat that lived in the tunnel.

"Have you a passport?" asked the rat.

But the tin soldier was silent and grasped his gun more firmly.

The boat sped on and the rat behind it.

But the current became swifter and stronger. The tin soldier could already see daylight where the tunnel ended, but in his ears there sounded a roaring enough to frighten any brave man. Only think! at the end of the tunnel the gutter discharged itself into a great canal; that would be as dangerous for him as for us to go down a waterfall.

The paper came in two and the soldier fell—but at that moment he was swallowed by a great fish.

Oh! how dark it was inside, even darker than in the tunnel, and it was really very close quarters! But there the steadfast little tin soldier lay full length shouldering his gun.

Up and down swam the fish; then he made the most dreadful contortions and became suddenly quite still. Then it was as if a flash of lightning had passed through him; the daylight streamed in and a voice exclaimed: "Why here is the little tin soldier!" The fish had been caught, taken to market, sold and brought into the kitchen, where the cook had cut it open with a great knife. She took up the soldier between her finger and thumb and carried him into the room, where everyone wanted to see the hero who had been found inside a fish; but the tin soldier was not at all proud. They put him on the table, and —no, but what strange things do happen in this world!—the tin soldier was in the same room in which he had been before! He saw the same children and the same toys on the table, and there was the same grand castle with the pretty little dancer. She was still standing on one leg with the other high in the air; she, too, was steadfast. That touched the tin soldier; he nearly going to shed tin tears; but that would not have been fitting for a soldier. He looked at her, but she said nothing.

All at once one of the little boys took up the tin soldier and threw him into the stove, giving no reasons; but doubtless the little black imp in the snuff-box was at the bottom of this, too.

There the tin soldier lay and felt a heat that was truly terrible; but whether he was suffering from actual fire or from the ardor of his passion he did not know. All his color had disappeared. Whether this had happened on his travels or whether it was the result of trouble, who can say? He looked at the little lady, she looked at him, and he felt that he was melting; but he remained steadfast, with his gun at his shoulder. Suddenly a door opened, the draft caught up the little dancer, and off she flew like a sylph to the tin soldier in the stove, burst into flames—and that was the end of her! Then the tin soldier melted down into a little lump, and when next morning the maid was taking out the ashes, she found him in the shape of a heart. There was nothing left of the little dancer but her gilt rose, burned as black as a cinder.

JARR GOES TO A "STAG."

The Episode and Attendant Circumstances Reported for the Post-Dispatch

By ROY L. McCARDELL.

"I'LL be a litiate?" said Mrs. Jarr. "You mean you will be out all night, I suppose, and I'll be worried sick at being all alone in the house, with the children, because there have been a lot of burglaries in the neighborhood recently."

"A little tie late this evening," said Mr. Jarr.

"I didn't hear of any," said Mr. Jarr. "And, anyway, any burglar that breaks in this house will only get in debt. What have we got to steal?"

"How does a burglar know that till he comes in and searches?" replied Mrs. Jarr; "and then, if he is disappointed he is liable to murder one, just for spite."

"Now, don't you worry," said Mr. Jarr, "I won't stay late."

"Where are you going?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"One of the boys at the office has come into a little money and is going to give a little stag party. I can't very well get out of it," explained Mr. Jarr.

"You don't want to get out of it, so don't be hypocritical about it!" snapped Mrs. Jarr.

"I really do not want to go," said Mr. Jarr. "But he's a nice fellow and he wants to do something for his friends to celebrate his good luck."

"He wants to show off, you mean!" said Mrs. Jarr. "If he wanted to do something for his friends, why doesn't he give them the money he's going to waste on a dinner where everybody will eat too much and smoke too much and drink too much?"

"That I can't say," said Mr. Jarr. It's the usual thing to give a dinner in such cases and not to distribute $10 bills, I believe."

"No, because that would be too sensible, and you never can get men to do anything sensible!" declared Mrs. Jarr.

"I won't go, then, if it will worry you, then. I'll say you are sick and I can't attend the dinner."

"You talk as if I were doing or saying something that would prevent your going," said Mrs. Jarr. "Don't let me interfere with your fun. I only know you men have a good time in this world, going to this thing and that thing, while a woman never gets to go anywhere! If I were to go out night after night to card parties or belonging to clubs and societies like a lot of women I know, you'd make a pretty fuss about it. Well, go ahead! It won't be the first nor the last time I have been left alone in this house while you were out all night, goodness knows where."

"I'll stay home, as I said, then," said Mr. Jarr.

"Yes, and be as cross as a bear," said Mrs. Jarr, "or else sit reading there and never saying a word to me. I'd rather you would go out than the way you act when you imagine you are doing such a grand thing by staying home one night in the year."

"Let's us go some place together, then," said Mr. Jarr. "What do you say to one of the roof gardens?"

"I've got a headache,' said Mrs. Jarr, "and I'm too tired to go anywhere. Besides, I suppose you have promised to go, and you'd better keep your engagement."

After dinner it was proposed that the party attend a roof garden, which was agreed to, but Mr. Jarr asked to be excused and went home.

Mrs. Jarr wasn't at home, and the girl informed him that Mr. and Mrs. Rangle had telephoned her to go to a roof garden with them, and had later on called for her and had taken her with them.

When Mrs. Jarr was brought home at midnight by the Rangles she found Mr. Jarr waiting up for her.

"We saw your friends at the roof garden," she said. "They seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely."

"I suppose so," said Mr. Jarr, ruefully.

"But you are getting to be such an old crank," said Mrs. Jarr, "that you won't do anything any more. I suppose you'd rather stay around the house growling at me!"

JINGLES AND MORALS

First of a Series for Children Devised Especially for the Post-Dispatch.

PROVERB PHIL

Young Proverb Phil, of masterful skill,
Quoted the wisdom of ages;
With many a jingle, he made the ear tingle,
With maxims and precepts of sages.

One night when the preacher, with pa and the teacher,
Played cards in the parlor for money,
He tacked on the wall, in plain sight of all,
A proverb that he thought was funny.

"The best throw of dice is to throw them away,
For gambling at cards is ruin;"
"You go to bed!" is what papa said;
"And later there'll be something doing."

MORAL

Where'er you jest, show respect to your guest;
Proverbs though pat, will often fall flat.
At the tip of one's tongue, when with friends you're among,
To have always an answer, is a dangerous plan, sir.

"BEE-PARALYSIS."

AMONG bees in the Isle of Wight a singular disease has been spreading. It assumes the form of a kind of paralysis and up to the present all efforts to combat the malady have been useless. It is believed that the bees will be extinct in the island within another year unless a remedy be quickly found.

A FEW CHOICE STORIES

Eva Booth's Policeman.

From the World Today.

"You are under arrest! You are disturbing the peace!" snarled a policeman, breaking off her first public prayer in the streets of London. She was still in her early 'teens, a slight slip of a girl with no means of resistance, and as the bullying officer tightened his grip on her arm, she was dragged shrinkingly with him.

But the action aroused the sympathies of the rough crowd as a lighted match fires a keg of gunpowder. In an instant the policeman and his prisoner were surrounded, and before the officer could raise his voice he was beaten to the pavement under a shower of fists.

It was the girl prisoner who, forgetting his rough grip and the cell to which he would have dragged her, appealed to the throng in his defense. When the crowd finally retreated, the policeman was groaning with two broken legs and a mass of bruises from head to foot.

For weeks the little girl in the big army bonnet paid faithful visits to the helpless man in the hospital, and when he was released a warmer friend Eva Booth and her cause could not have found in all England. To this day she receives letters in a rough, sprawling hand, signed simply, "Your policeman."

Rather Slighting.

"That was rather slighting," said Senator Beveridge of a certain speech. "It was like the speech of the old Adams butler.

"When I was a boy in Adams County, Judge Blank was taken very ill. The doctor called regularly, but the Judge kept getting worse, and finally the crisis came.

"The morning after the crisis, the doctor rang the Judge's bell at sunrise.

"'I hope your master's temperature is lower than it was last evening?' he said to the butler anxiously.

"'I'm not so sure about that,' the man answered. 'He died, sir, in the night.'"

Little Country Weekers.

Bishop Frederick Burgess of Long Island was praising the beneficent work of those associations that send the pale little children of the slums to the country every summer for a week or two.

"Quaint indeed are the comments on the country which, at their first glimpse of it," said Bishop Burgess, "those children make.

"One child, found gazing with passionate interest at a lot of hens, was asked if he had ever seen chickens before.

"'Oh, yes; I've seen 'em before,' he answered, 'but only after they wuz peeled.'

"There was another little chap," continued Bishop Burgess, "who refused to be a country weeker. He would stay in the city. No country for him.

"'But why?' they asked him.

"'Because they have thrashin' machines out there,' said he, 'and it's bad enough here, where it's done by hand.'"

The Niggard's Way.

A Philadelphian said of Miss Anna T. Jeanes, who has given $1,000,000 for negro education in the South:

"Miss Jeanes is a splendid philanthropist. To a good cause she is generosity itself. Giving promptly and freely, she has no sympathy with niggards. I once heard her tell a story about a niggardly rich man of her childhood.

"This man visited a school and made an address. At the end he called a little boy up to him and said:

"'My lad, have you a purse?'

"'No, sir.'

"'I'm sorry,' said the rich man. 'If you had had a purse I should have given you a dime to put in it.'

"This man was scheduled to speak again at the school the next month and when he came the boys were prepared for him. An empty purse lay hid in every little pair of trousers.

"And sure enough, at the end of his speech, the man called another boy and said:

"'Have you a purse, son?'

"'Yes, sir' was the eager answer.

"'I am glad of it,' said the other. 'If you hadn't I should give you a dime to buy one with.'"

Too Much of a Good Thing.

The late Ian Maclaren, on one of his last visits to Philadelphia, told at a dinner at the Bellevue-Stratford a salmon story.

"Just as," he said, "in the South it was illegal once to feed slaves on canvasback duck and terrapin more than a certain number of days in the week —just as duck and terrapin were plentiful to the point of disgust once with you, so with us, in certain parts of Scotland, salmon is so plentiful that every one gets sick of it.

"In a walking tour in search of local color and new dialects, my Scottish landlords gave me salmon, salmon, salmon, for breakfast, lunch and dinner till my gorge rose within me.

"I remember coming down one morning in the Highlands, and seeing on the table a huge salmon and a pot of mustard.

"'Is there nothing else for breakfast?' I asked my host.

"'Nothing else?' cried he. 'Why there's salmon enough there for a dozen.'

"'I know,' said I, 'but I don't like salmon.'

"'Well, then,' said he, 'pitch into the mustard.'"

Divided Responsibility.

Mrs. Gramercy: She seems to have some leisure since she obtained her divorce.

Mrs. Park: Naturally. She has to take care of her children only six months in the year now.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES.

TEACHER: Now, Ted, tell me why little boys are sent to school?

Ted: I suppose it's so their mothers can attend mothers' meetings.

Teacher: Johnny, can you explain the difference between "like" and "love?"

Johnny: Yes, ma'am; I like bread and butter, but I love pie.

"William," said the teacher of the juvenile class, "what is syntax?"

"I don't know," replied the little fellow, "unless it's the tax on whisky."

Mamma: What did your father say when he found you had dulled his razor?

Little Carl: Huh! I don't want to get licked for repeating what he said.

Little Margaret: Oh, pa, your nice white pipe is turning brown.

Papa: Yes, dear. It is the smoke that colors it.

Little Margaret: And are all colored people white before they begin to smoke, papa?—Chicago News.

PUNCH FIGURES

IF the Aurora Borealis were transplanted and stuck in the middle of Europe, says London Punch, it would take employment away from 1,750,439 gas workers in France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Russia and Turkey, with a saving of household expenditure of £12,584,256 13s 7d annually, while the fall in shares would bring starvation to 51,411 men, 189,666 women (married and single), and 273,538 children under 14 years of age.

The amount of blotting paper that could be turned out of British paper mills, working two shifts a week, during 25 years 8 months 3 weeks would be enough to soak up the Pacific.

An eminent scientist has calculated that if the agricultural laborers of Great Britain would discard hob-nail boots in favor of pumps, the manufacture of the latter would provide work for the whole continent of Europe, bar one man. The iron thus thrown aside would suffice to make 12 armored cruisers two-thirds the size of the Black Prince, with plates three-fourths of an inch thicker.

The quantity of hair exchanged annually between lovers in the United Kingdom would suffice to stuff 999 gross of hair pillows, or generate enough ammonia to fill 21,203 carboys.

If a man were to walk on his hands from London to Bournemouth, it would take him 17¾ longer than it would take a 10-pound salmon to swim from Varstanger Fjord, in Norway, to Calcutta, via the Suez Canal.

The amount of porridge consumed in Scotland during the last three centuries (including 1900 up to Oct. 1) would form a lake two and one-fourth times the size of Loch Lomond and three and one-half times as deep.

Supposing a contract were made to suspend linen buttons by single strings at dintances of six inches along the branches of all the palm trees in Southern India, it would take English manufacturers nine years seven months and three weeks to supply the demand.

Two cocoanut husks form an adequate life belt. If the husks of all the cocoanuts in Southern India were brought to this country and distributed two husks per man, there would thus be provided a sufficient number of natural life belts to enable two-thirds of the population to be swimming about in the English Channel at the same time.

Should some malicious person remove the 80,000 volumes in Coimbra Library to Madrid, it would take 467 students carrying a volume a time and walking 20 miles a day 7 years 8 months 3 weeks 2½ days to carry them back to Coimbra.

If all the paraffin lamps made in this country in one year were brought together on Salisbury plain and lit, the heat thus produced, emanating from the earth's surface, would be sufficient in 1200 years 9 months 5 days to dry up all the minor water courses on Jupiter.

UNEXPLAINED MARRIAGES.

A Condition Which Astounds Students of Social Phenomena.

BY HELEN OLDFIELD.

THERE are not a few marriages which deserve to be classed with "stock riddles," riddles which, as someone has said, begin with a why and to which the only possible answer is "give it up." So baffling are the matrimonial alliances made every day that friends and acquaintances seldom get beyond bewilderment when attempting to explain them.

The oft-quoted woman who declared that she had ceased to wonder why anybody married anybody else was in no way original; she was merely practical and wise in declining to vex her soul with unprofitable and vain speculation, providing, of course, that in truth she had learned to accept the fact without thought of the wherefore. Her judgment is the judgment of mankind in all grades, that is to say, of the limited section of mankind (100,000,000 out of 1,200,000,000 statisticians tell us) among whom freedom of choice is presumably allowed. Observing readers will concur in saying that in no grade did they ever see a social circle of any size in which there was not at least one couple whose marriage was regarded as unintelligible. Occasionally the perplexity is increased by obvious ability either in wife or husband. "What did he see in her?" "What could she find in him?" These are the ever recurring questions to which no one makes answer.

Sometimes, to be sure, it is a stupid criticism, due to the frequent inability of men and women in general to comprehend or fathom the necessities and desires of others. The apparently incongruous marriage may be clearly and undeniably happy, in which case the puzzle is all the greater.

"It is well everybody doesn't like the same thing," said one man to another. "If every man had been of my mind they would all have wanted my wife."

"Yes," replied the other, "and if they had all been of my mind, no one would have wanted her."

Still, allowing for the apparently mismatched teams which pull together admirably in harness, everywhere and at all times, among a large majority of sensible selections, due it must be admitted to the fact that the great majority of women are good in all senses of the word, and therefore make good wives, according to their lights, there are to be found matrimonial blunders, cases which seem to suggest the sometimes mooted theory that a man's choice of a wife is rarely or never dictated by his brain power.

Indeed, it is much to be questioned whether men who are supposed to be good judges of character—to be able, as the saying is, "to choose men by the eye," and that there are men who possess such power in so great a degree as to amount to a gift cannot be doubted—make wiser marriages than other folk. Men who make no mistakes in selecting business associates sometimes fail signally when it comes to choosing a wife.

That genius should not be of practical aid is generally expected. It is a common saying that people who know much of books know little of men, and the secret belief that genius is closely akin to insanity goes far to prevent astonishment at any blunders in the conduct of daily life which may be committed by the so-called "heaven born." The world at large scarcely expects a man of genius to marry wisely, although he often does so, and numerous instances might be cited to prove it. It is half inclined to include a blunder in matrimony as among the proofs of genius. But why it is that men of affairs should make the same blunder and should in so many instances bid good-by to common sense and good judgement when it comes to marrying, is one of the things which, as Lord Dundreary has said, "No fellow can find out."—Chicago Tribune.

The Butcher's Smock.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The butcher's smock was blue. It looked much neater than the white smocks of his friends, all smeared with dried blood. "Every butcher," said the man, "ought to wear a blue smock. Why? Because dry blood won't show on it. Dry blood turns bluish, and on a smock of this color it is invisible. I am descended from a long line of butchers, and from father to son the ward has been passed down always to wear, for neatness sake, a smock of blue."

Where Will You Send Your Daughter?

Timid girls do better at Forest Park University, for classes are smaller.

Delicate girls also, for school rooms are on one floor, and they have no stairs to climb.

Backward girls are advanced rapidly, for all are sent to the blackboard every day, and principles explained fully, so that they understand them.

Idle girls learn to study, for they are kept in daily, and find it better to study at the right time, than to lose recreation by studying at the wrong time.

Bright girls do better at F. P. U., for as dull ones MUST learn, whether or no, they are not kept back in their classes.

Music students do better at F. P. U., for music lessons and practicing alternate in school hours, piano monitors secure faithful practicing, and the hope of finally studying with Mr. Kroeger inspires them.

Bible study at F. P. U. puts higher motives into life, changes and deepens character, transforming thoughtless girls into faithful women.

Grammar School diplomas admit to college preparatory, High School diplomas to full four years' college course.

Other students privately examined and graded. Special students taken. Tuition, $65 school year.

"A PIANO'S FUTURE."

Wearing qualities cannot always be depended upon for individual pianos, the best of makes break down occasionally. Hence, you must take the dealer's reliability into first consideration—one who will make good any grievances you may have. Any complaints you may make to the factory are always referred to your dealer, so that you are at his mercy. During the past 37 years we have always been at the back of every piano we sold and made good every promise, with the result that all our patrons recommend us. Let us sell you one of our 21 makes we represent, then you'll not only get a reliable piano, but you need not fear about the future. Easy terms on all.

LONDON, June 19.—A report is current in the House of Commons that Joseph Chamberlain is dying.

Mr. Chamberlain was brought to his London house yesterday from Highbury, his place near Birmingham. Since his return from abroad he had shown increasing loss of nervous and mental power, and it was desired to have him within reach of the best medical advice that London affords.

Austen Chamberlain, his son, has been with him all day, but inquiries at Mr. Chamberlain's residence get only the stereotyped reply that he bore the journey well. Mr. Chamberlain is 74 years old.

BLAMES MEDIUMS FOR DIVORCE SUIT

Edward Mills Testifies That Wife Said She Got Information From Spirits.

WOMEN'S NAMES ON LIST

Paper Was Prepared, the Wife Said, Through the Aid of Table Rapping.

Mediums told Mrs. Flora Edith Mills that her husband was faithless and started trouble that ended in divorce proceedings which were heard Wednesday before Circuit Judge Withrow, said Edward Mills of 3802 Arsenal street while testifying in his own behalf.

The action was instituted by Mills, who is a book dealer on Chestnut street, but his wife filed a cross-bill. The contestants were married in March, 1887, and separated May 1, 1907.

Woke Her Up Nights.

"She called me a hypocrite and a humbug," said Mills while testifying, "and accused me of improper conduct with other women. She said she got her information from the spirits, who woke her up at night and told her things about me. She would never give any names.

"One night just before we separated she came to my bedroom and said: 'Now I know who those women are. Here is a list.' She handed me a paper with about sixteen names on it."

Mills said he glanced at the paper, recognized two names, and threw it into the fire. Judge Withrow wanted to know why he did that.

"The thing was so scandalous and unreasonable that I wanted to destroy it," the witness answered.

Admits Visiting Medium.

After that Mills had his wife taken to St. Vincent's Asylum. After she had been there awhile, he said, she confessed that she had told a falsehood about the spirits and that she had been visiting a medium. She said that when she wanted names of the "other women" the medium told her to write down a list of them, and whenever there was a knocking under the table as she wrote a name, that was one of the women.

Mills said he lived happily with his wife for 15 years, but the last five years of their married life were stormy. They quarreled for a long time about tearing down a stable, and finally it was wrecked as Mills desired. They have two children—Harry, aged 11, and Charles, 7.

ONLY THE MEMORY OF LUSCIOUS WATERMELONS FOR ST. LOUISANS NOW

Railroads Refuse to Carry the Fruit Without a Bonus and Prices Are Sky High.

Refusal of the railroad companies to make shipments unless guaranteed a bonus of $5 on every car has tied up the Missouri watermelon crop, valued at $1,500,000. This extra compensation is exacted, the railroads say, because of a shortage of cars.

The retail price is 60 and 70 cents, whereas the usual price at this time of the year is scarcely ever higher than 50 cents.

Some time ago the railroads notified the watermelon growers that on account of lack of car service they could not haul a large crop this year. The whole tenor of the railroad ultimatum is to discourage the growing of watermelons. But the farmers had already ... their planting.

...ott, Mississippi and Dunklin are the ...ner watermelon counties of Missouri. These three counties alone now ... awaiting shipment 1500 cars of watermelons, the aggregate value of which ...bout $450,000. On this crop the ship... expect to derive a net profit of at ... $100,000, or about $75 a car.

Several members of her class in the Venice School which she attended last year also attended. She received a gold locket and chain, and also several pretty presents from her schoolmates. Lunch was served at 4:30 p. m., after which games were played.

MAYOR REFUSES TO ALLOW BOXING BOUT FOR CHARITY

John S. Bratton Angered at Failure to Get Sanction to Carnival Plans.

When John S. Bratton telephoned to Mayor Cook of East St. Louis Tuesday asking permission to give an amateur 3-round bout at the charity carnival for the benefit of the Henrietta Hospital, he confidently expected he was simply setting the wheels of "red tape" in motion and that the mayor would immediately approve the bout in aid of charity.

When the mayor refused to countenance the sparring match, Bratton was indignant. Then he became angry.

The bout was to have been given July 2 at the carnival to be held at Mr. Bratton's home on State street by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Henrietta Hospital. The carnival is to be the most elaborate entertainment ever attempted in East St. Louis and the ladies agreed with Mr. Bratton that the bout would be a drawing card. Bratton says that if they had followed the usual custom in such things and held the bout before asking permission, he supposes it would have been all right.

Mayor Cook says that if he permitted one bout he would have to treat all alike and throw down the bars to prize-fighting in East St. Louis. When Mr. Bratton warmed up the telephone wire and asked the mayor why he allowed the "boxing exhibitions" Monday night at the Eagles' Hall in the presence of over 500 people, the mayor answered that the bouts were held without his knowledge or consent.

Mayor Cook is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of which Rev. W. E. Archibald is pastor. Mr. Bratton attends the same church. Mrs. Archibald, wife of the pastor, is a member of the committee in charge of the carnival plans.

MINNIE SELIGMAN BECOMES A BRIDE THIS EVENING

Will Wed Actor Whose Declarations of Love on the Stage Were Sincere.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Miss Minnie Seligman, an actress well-known in St. Louis, divorced wife of Robert L. Cutting Jr., will be married tonight to William Bramwell, an actor, who has headed several prominent stock companies in the past few years. The ceremony will be performed at Delmonico's by Rev. William Kephart. Only the members of the actress' family and a few relatives of Mr. Bramwell will attend.

The wedding will be the final chapter in a romance beginning with love at first sight. Five years ago Mr. Bramwell was engaged as leading man of the Fifth Avenue Theater stock company and at the first rehearsal met Miss Seligman, who had been engaged as leading woman. Before the rehearsal was over the actor was desperately in love, and during the season it was remarked that his lovemaking scenes were most realistic.

Mr. Bramwell pressed his suit ardently, but Miss Seligman refused to wed. The actor kept up his wooing through the years since then, and when the actor yesterday morning returned for a brief vacation, he called on Miss Seligman and in an hour the time of the marriage had been set, the minister engaged and the guests invited.

Following the wedding the couple will go to the seashore, after which they will make a brief tour of European cities.

PLAY BALL! SAY ALL THE BABIES

Doctors and Dentists' Game Friday Means Pure Milk for Little Ones.

The Doctors and the Dentists will play Friday at American League Park for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. They will stack their medicine cases under the grandstand and cavort to the gleeful chuckles of patients who have seen them only in their broadcloth and wise looks. To see this game means unadulterated fun for the spectators and unadulterated milk for the tenement babies. The charity game last year was marred by rain, but a temporary restraining order has been secured from the United States Court, and will be served on Weathermaker Bowie the moment he is seen tinkering raound the rain pots.

Umpire Cahill has ordered a steel-riveted cage to protect himself from the compounds, medical and otherwise, that may come his way.

Mr. Hedges was heard to say, when not talking for publication, that the "brother-in-law battery" needed a rest, and that he would watch the work of Drs. Bailey and Gibson, and extractors Tice and Brady. He has also announced that should anyone break the leg of the Post-Dispatch Weather Bird in more than one place, Hemphill and Stone may be set down temporarily.

Friends and patients of Drs. Davis, Biering, Muench, White, Parish and Flaherty are already beginning to fear they will miss them at the next stork levee or at the periodical tooth ulcer-itus.

Dr. Bailey, in an exclusive tip to the Post-Dispatch, announces that he will spring two brand-new things in the way of pitched balls. He has named them the "chloroform ball" and the "menthol drop."

Dr. "Baby" Tice has perfected a laughing gas ball. He describes it as much more scientific than a Harry Orchard bomb. It is loaded with natural gas. The sudden break in the curve causes it to explode at the plate. The batter is overcome, and in the reviving process, fans out every time Dr. Tice says they can't get away from it.

Dr. Ude of South St. Louis, though he weighs 251 pounds, has Harry Bay and Harry Niles looking as though they were tied to the post when it comes to sprinting. Lajoie has been looking him over. It is noticed that he hasn't been playing Bay lately.

Dr. Corley, whose Titus-like whiskers out-Titus Titus, will be on hand. He will wear them in an eelskin bag, but promises to unravel them once as a special attraction, no extra admission being charged. It is for the babies, anyhow, he says.

Dr. Gibson has had his glove filled with gum arabic and tanglefoot, and promises no passed balls.

The doctors will wear their handsome new gray suits, which Cleveland plagiarized. They have never been beaten and modestly assert they can't be—a strong tip for the hand bookers, for they say the dentists have followers who will gamble the last red on them.

The official lineup follows:

| Physicians— | Dentists— |
|---|---|
| Gibson c. | Brady c. |
| Bailey p. | Carson 2b. |
| R. C. Harris 1b. | Owsley ss. |
| J. J. Harris 2b. | Hodges 3b. |
| Dillon ss. | Seibert 1b or p. |
| Davis 3b. | Parish lf. |
| Gering lf. | Faherty cf. |
| Muench cf. | White rf. |
| Temm, Ude, rf. | Tice p or 1b. |

Admission to the great game will be 25 cents. Tickets will be on sale at most drug stores and at the gate.

CATHOLIC CHURCH RETAINS F. J. WADE

St. Louis Financier Has Charge of Financial Affairs in Philippines.

Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., has been appointed fiscal representative of the Catholic Church in the Philippines to settle disputes with the Government in which titles to lands, bank stocks and other properties to the value of $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 are involved.

Archbishop Harty, who was formerly a priest in St. Louis, is now in complete control of the interests of the Catholic Church in the Philippine Islands. When he was here recently he selected Mr. Wade as his representative to effect a settlement with the Government.

The Spanish-Philippine Bank, which is largely owned and controlled by the Catholic Church, is one of the principal sources of trouble. The Government desires to abridge its powers, and recently by taxing its circulating notes compelled their retirement. The bank was founded in 1823 and has enjoyed many privileges not granted to banks in this country.

There are also questions involving the San Jose College, a heavily endowed and powerful institution, the Insane Asylum and the San Lazaro Hospital. Under Spanish control the church and state were so closely allied that it was difficult to define the limits of each. Secretary Taft is endeavoring to separate the church from the state, and in doing so questions have arisen as to what the church is entitled to. Archbishop Harty has placed these interests in Mr. Wade's hands, and he has made several trips to Washington recently to discuss them with the War Department.

BIG BREWERS TALK TRUST PLAN

Promoter of Combination Expects Definite Results Wednesday.

Representatives of the St. Louis breweries interested in the consolidation of their plants had a conference at the Planters Hotel Tuesday afternoon with local and Cleveland financiers. James S. Brally, the promoter, who is endeavoring to consolidate all the breweries outside of the St. Louis Brewing Association, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the deal would not be consummated Tuesday, but that he expected some definite action Wednes...

BUYING POWER LACKING IN THE STOCK MARKET

First Figures Wednesday Were Higher All Around but Were Lost in First Half Hour of the Session—Trading Is Light.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19, 12:30 p. m.—With only a fair volume of sales, 167,000, to noon, the market was dull after the decline that followed the opening. Just before noon there was a slight rally back to the opening and after 12 o'clock prices again were on the decline and trading dull.

NEW YORK, June 19, 9:30 a. m.—The stock market ignored the adverse influences that have ruled the openings recently and Wednesday opened ¼ to ¾ of a point better than shown by the finals of Tuesday.

The same discordant note that has been sounded in the industrial stock market was heard again Wednesday when the big corporation stocks opened lower Wednesday—a fraction of a point—when all of the news obtainable was of a bullish character. The favorable forecast of future activity of the steel-makers as indicated by the orders for steel rails already booked well up into 1908, as well as the sum of the two last quarterly reports, showing the record for earnings and volume of business by the U. S. Steel Corporation and the further strong reports by the steel and wood car-making companies, all fail in sustaining the industrial shares.

The only cause of this condition according to stock market sources, is that investors are not active now, and that any disposition to invest while shares are cheap is curbed by the near approach of July payments. After that period has passed it is believed that prices will advance.

The opening Wednesday and the first half hour of the market developed only a lower tendency, all leaders of rail and industrial stocks losing their early gains.

COTTON.

(Francis Bros. & Co., 214 N. Fourth st.)
ST. LOUIS, June 19.

The market at Liverpool this morning displays strength, opening sales being made at an advance over yesterday of 7 to 8 points. To have agreed with the closing figures in New York of yesterday, 2 to 3 points higher would have been sufficient. At 12:15 (Liverpool time) the tone of market was called quiet, with prices, however, at a net advance of 7¼ to 8½ points on near months and 7 to 7½ points up on far months.

Liverpool spots were 8 points higher; middling quoted at 7.16d. Sales fair; 6000 bales, of which 5000 were American cotton. Imports, 14,000, all American cotton.

The New York market today opened at a higher level, first sales being from 9 to 12 points better than the final prices of yesterday. Opening sales as follows: July, 11.70c; Oct., 11.56c; Dec., 11.55c; Jan., 11.67c.

Showers and thunderstorms generally predicted over Eastern and central sections of the cotton belt, and over part of the Western belt today and tomorrow.

WHEAT FUTURES SCORED GOOD GAIN

Damage Reports From Northwest Cause Buying—Weather Good, Cables Disappointing.

OTHER GRAINS WERE FIRM

Unfavorable Reports on Corn Plentiful—Fresh Grains in Good Demand.

Local wheat, after an easier opening, was bid up steadily, Wednesday, and the close was ⅝@⅞c higher for the day. July wheat closed ⅝@⅞c higher, at 90⅝@93½c bid, September ⅝@⅞c higher at 92¼@92⅜c sellers and December option ⅞@1c higher at 94⅜c bid.

Liverpool cables closed unchanged on spot wheat and ⅝d lower on the futures. Paris closed unchanged to ½d higher on wheat and unchanged to 1½d lower on flour. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged, Berlin wheat ⅝c lower and Budapest wheat ¼c higher.

The local market was active throughout and prices moved rapidly in a good range. There was a good volume of trading in the pit.

The growing weather in this country is fine and advices from most sections report good progress under the result favorable conditions. This, with the poor response of Liverpool and other foreign markets to our advance of Tuesday caused an easier opening. Initial offerings were rather heavy, and July option opened ¼c to ⅝c lower at 89⅝c to 85¼c, and declined to 89c, and September opened ½c lower at 91c, and went as low as 90⅞c. When the low points were reached, however, a good demand, plainly from the commission houses and shorts turned up and prices recorded and scored a sharp advance.

The incentive to buying was damage reports from the Northwest, and many of the traders are expecting a green bug scare in the spring wheat territory, as green bugs and wire worms were reported in abundance, though doing no harm as yet. Little long wheat was apparent and the shorts were good buyers, July wheat advancing to 90½c, and September 92¼c. Some scattered profit-taking late in the day brought prices down a fraction from the extreme advance, but a recovery was made just before the end and the close was practically at the high point. July dipped to 90c and closed at 90⅝@90½c bid, and September sagged to 92@92⅛c and closed at 92¼c@92⅜c asked.

There was a good demand for cash wheat and prices were firmer. Primary receipts of wheat were 456,235 bu, against 299,485 bu last year, and shipments were 380,955 bu, against 111,090 bu last year. Local receipts were 33,000 bu, against 5000 bu last year, and shipments were 51,515 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 394,000 bu.

Corn was in good demand. The strength in wheat caused some firmness early in the day, and damage reports especially from Missouri and Iowa, were plentiful. Trading was on a good scale, and the close was ¾c higher for the day. July option opened ⅛c higher at 51⅛c, and advanced to 52⅛c, the close. September corn opened ⅛@¼c lower at 51⅝@51½c, advanced to 52⅝c, and closed at 52⅝@52¾c.

Cash corn prices ruled firm under a good demand. Primary receipts of corn were 1,039,550 bu, against 831,400 bu last year, and shipments were 657,180 bu, against 276,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 171,600 bu, against 20,900 bu last year, and shipments were 90,240 bu. Corn clearances were 208,000 bu.

Corn was quiet and firm, with few features. The strength in other grains caused a good demand, and the close was ⅝@1c higher for the day. July oats was inactive and was bid for ¾c higher at 44c and September opened ⅛c higher at 36⅞@37c and advanced to and closed at 37⅜c.

The cash oats market was quiet, but prices were somewhat higher. Receipts of oats at all primary points were 412,711 bu, against 483,530 bu last year, and shipments were 427,364 bu, against 852,000 bu last year. Local receipts of oats were 92,800 bu, against 51,700 bu last year, and shipments were 104,375 bu. Oats clearances for the day were 23,000 bu.

Cash wheat was in strong demand at both Minneapolis and Chicago. In the latter market all the offerings were wanted and at good prices.

Following are the Northwestern car lots: Minneapolis, 219, against 232 last year; Duluth, 30, against 15 last year. Total, 249, against 247 last year.

FLOUR—Receipts were 9760 bbls.; shipments, 6360 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $3.40@4.60; straight, $4.10@4.30; extra fancy, $3.75@4.00 in wood; low to medium grades, in jute, $2.60@3.10; hard jute sacks, patents, $4.05@4.30; straight at $3.89@4; clear at $2.90@3.30; low grade at $2.40@2.70; spring patents at $4.55@4.70 in jute.

HAY—Receipts, 755 tons local and 220 tons through; shipments, 480 tons. Quote timothy hay, choice, $20@21; No. 1, $18@20; No. 2, $16@18; No. 3, $11@14. Clover hay, choice, $18@19; No. 1, $15.50@16.50; No. 1 clover mixed, $18@18.50, No. 2 clover mixed, $14@17. Prairie hay, choice, $12; No. 1, $11@11.50; No. 2, $9@10.

FINANCIAL.

Chairman Harry Rein of the St. Louis Stock Exchange starts on a short vacation to Arkansas Wednesday. A. D. Grant, secretary of the Exchange, will preside during the chairman's absence.

Messrs. George H. Burr & Co., commercial paper brokers, 304-5-6 Security Building, report local money: Indorsed bills receivable, 4 to 6 months, 5½ per cent; high-grade and single-name paper, 4 to 6 months, 5½ to 6 per cent; other names, not so well known, 6 per cent on first-class security. Money market steady; demand for money continues good.

Call money opened on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday at 2¾ per cent.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings for Wednesday, $9,994,018; last week, $11,072,071. Balances for today, $725,917; last week, $1,152,745. Decrease clearings, $1,128,053; decrease balances, $427,728.

Within the past few years St. Louis has become a much more important center as regards foreign exchanges. Hence the present exports of gold, and the fluctuations in the rates for international remittances, causes much interest in this market at the present. Several of the large national banks and at least one large trust company are prominently identified with the daily operations in exchanges, and as the cotton season approaches, the prominence of this point is bound to be emphasized in this respect.

FAT MEN LACK STAYING POWER

They Lose Two Baseball Games to Leans in Last Innings.

In the second game of the series for the baseball championship of the Ice-Water League of East St. Louis, the Leans repeated their victory over the Fats of the East St. Louis Retail Liquor Dealers' Association by a score of 20 to 17 at Alta Sita Park. In both games played so far, the Fats were far in the lead until the final innings, but when they "blowed up" the Leans made a spurt and batted out a victory over the tired Fats.

In the sixth inning the score was 12 to 3 in favor of the Fats and they were running easy. Frank Furey and Frank Wyant of the Leans declared they were sick, caused by over-indulgence in ice-water under the torrid atmospheric conditions, and retired. Two men took their places, being introduced as bartenders. The Fats say they later found that they had been handed a "package" of ringers, and that the new men had formerly played with the Belleville Clerks' team.

In the next three innings the Leans made 17 runs, while the Fats could get only five men across the plate. Umpire John Gerth was severely criticized by the Fats who insisted that they were entitled to consideration on account of the top-heavy score in their favor during more than half of the game. They demanded leniency during the tiresome closing innings, but Umpire Gerth gave them the frozen stare.

Slightly Renewed Activity in Bond Sales Attracts Some Attention—Prices Fair.

TRUST STOCKS ARE LOWER

Kansas City Telephone Stock and Bonds Decline in Early Session, Then Recover.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange operations at the Wednesday forenoon session continued dull as to the volume of transactions.

There was a renewal of activity in the bond list, the par value of bonds sold being $6000 and the price being firm to ⅛c higher for traction 4s and a fraction easier for Missouri Edison 5 per cents.

A development not altogether unexpected was the decline in the stock of the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. on sales to 117, but the selling was light.

Another feature of the session was the re-entry to the market of Bank of Commerce stock, which sold in a small way easier at 262¾.

Kansas City Home Telephone stock was easier on sales at 65¾, with the close at 65¾ bid ... asked.

BLAMES MEDIUMS FOR DIVORCE SUIT

Edward Mills Testifies That Wife Said She Got Information tion From Spirits.

WOMEN'S NAMES ON LIST

Paper Was Prepared, the Wife Said, Through the Aid of Table Rapping.

Mediums told Mrs. Flora Edith Mills that her husband was faithless and started trouble that ended in divorce proceedings which were heard Wednesday before Circuit Judge Withrow, said Edward Mills of 3802 Arsenal street while testifying in his own behalf.

The action was instituted by Mills, who is a book dealer on Chestnut street, but his wife filed a cross-bill. The contestants were married in March, 1887, and separated May 1, 1907.

Woke Her Up Nights.

"She called me a hypocrite and a humbug," said Mills while testifying, "and accused me of improper conduct with other women. She said she got her information from the spirits, who woke her up at night and told her things about me. She would never give any names.

"One night just before we separated she came to my bedroom and said: 'Now I know who those women are. Here is a list.' She handed me a paper with about sixteen names on it."

Mills said he glanced at the paper, recognized two names, and threw it into the fire. Judge Withrow wanted to know why he did that.

"The thing was so scandalous and unreasonable that I wanted to destroy it," the witness answered.

Admits Visiting Medium.

After that Mills had his wife taken to St. Vincent's Asylum. After she had been there awhile, he said, she confessed that she had told a falsehood about the spirits and that she had been visiting a medium. She said that when she wanted names of the "other women" the medium told her to write down a list of them, and whenever there was a knocking under the table as she wrote a name, that was one of the women.

Mills said he lived happily with his wife for 15 years, but the last five years of their married life were stormy. They quarreled for a long time about tearing down a stable, and finally it was wrecked as Mills desired. They have two children—Harry, aged 11, and Charles, 7.

ONLY THE MEMORY OF LUSCIOUS WATERMELONS FOR ST. LOUISANS NOW

Railroads Refuse to Carry the Fruit Without a Bonus and Prices Are Sky High.

Refusal of the railroad companies to make shipments unless guaranteed a bonus of $5 on every car has tied up the Missouri watermelon crop, valued at $1,500,000. This extra compensation is exacted, the railroads say, because of a shortage of cars.

The retail price is 60 and 70 cents, whereas the usual price at this time of the year is scarcely ever higher than 50 cents.

Some time ago the railroads notified the watermelon growers that on account of lack of car service they could not haul a large crop this year. The whole tenor of the railroad ultimatum ... to discourage the growing of watermelons. But the farmers had already ... their planting.

... ott, Mississippi and Dunklin are the ... ner watermelon counties of Missouri. These three counties alone now ... awaiting shipment 1500 cars of watermelons, the aggregate value of which ... bout $450,000. On this crop the shippers expect to derive a net profit of at ... $100,000, or about $75 a car.

Past and present teachers of East St. Louis will gather at the home of Miss Arah Cannady, 502 Brighton place this evening, to hold a farewell party for Miss Hattie Mills, primary teacher of the Horace Mann School who has resigned her position and will depart for California shortly after school closes.

Miss Frances Holmes of 353 Collinsville avenue celebrated her thirteenth birthday Tuesday by entertaining the members of her class from the eighth room in the Webster School, and her teacher, Mr. Wham. Several members of her class in the Venice School which she attended last year also attended. She received a gold locket and chain, and also sereval pretty presents from her schoolmates. Lunch was served at 4:30 p. m., after which games were played.

John Shay and Miss Nellie Walsh of East St. Louis were married Wednesday morning at the Sacred Heart Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Shay, uncle of the groom and rector of St. Kevins' Parish, St. Louis.

"Children's Day" will be observed June 30 in the Christian Churches of the city. Rehearsals are being held for the exercises in the Lansdowne Christian Church. The program will consist of recitations, dialogues and tableaux.

At a conference between Mayor Cook and City Clerk Charles Lambert it was decided to notify all owners of buildings in process of erection that they must take out a building permit or stop work. There are several hundred buildings being erected, but the records in the City Clerk's office show that only a few have taken out the permits required by the city ordinances.

Patrick Gibbons and Miss Anna Sweeney of East St. Louis were married Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's Church by Rev. Father Sweeney. They will live at 813 North Eighth street.

The ladies of the German Evangelical Church will give an ice-cream social this afternoon and evening at the church on Gaty avenue.

The Queen City Athletic Club will give a picnic at Central Park Sunday. Seventeen athletic events, including a ladies' tug-of-war, ladies' egg race, potato race for boys and girls and a sack race, will be the feature of the outing.

William Roundtree and Miss Annie Heffron of East St. Louis were married Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's Church by Rev. Father Sweeney. Frank J. Ficker and Miss Birdie O'Sullivan were married at the Sacred Heart Church by Rev. Father Gilmartin.

MAYOR REFUSES TO ALLOW BOXING BOUT FOR CHARITY

John S. Bratton Angered at Failure to Get Sanction to Carnival Plans.

When John S. Bratton telephoned to Mayor Cook of East St. Louis Tuesday asking permission to give an amateur 3-round bout at the charity carnival for the benefit of the Henrietta Hospital, he confidently expected he was simply setting the wheels of "red tape" in motion and that the mayor would immediately approve the bout in aid of charity.

When the mayor refused to countenance the sparring match, Bratton was indignant. Then he became angry.

The bout was to have been given July 2 at the carnival to be held at Mr. Bratton's home on State street by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Henrietta Hospital. The carnival is to be the most elaborate entertainment ever attempted in East St Louis and the ladies agreed with Mr. Bratton that the bout would be a drawing card. Bratton says that if they had followed the usual custom in such things and held the bout before asking permission, he supposes it would have been all right.

Mayor Cook says that if he permitted one bout he would have to treat all alike and throw down the bars to prizefighting in East St. Louis. When Mr. Bratton warmed up the telephone wire and asked the mayor why he allowed the "boxing exhibitions" Monday night at the Eagles' Hall in the presence of over 500 people, the mayor answered that the bouts were held without his knowledge or consent.

Mayor Cook is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of which Rev. W. E. Archibald is pastor. Mr. Bratton attends the same church. Mrs. Archibald, wife of the pastor, is a member of the committee in charge of the carnival plans.

MINNIE SELIGMAN BECOMES A BRIDE THIS EVENING

Will Wed Actor Whose Declarations of Love on the Stage Were Sincere.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Miss Minnie Seligman, an actress well-known in St. Louis, divorced wife of Robert L. Cutting Jr., will be married tonight to William Bramwell, an actor, who has headed several prominent stock companies in the past few years. The ceremony will be performed at Delmonico's by Rev. William Kephart. Only the members of the actress' family and a few relatives of Mr. Bramwell will attend.

The wedding will be the final chapter in a romance beginning with love at first sight. Five years ago Mr. Bramwell was engaged as leading man of the Fifth Avenue Theater stock company and at the first rehearsal met Miss Seligman, who had been engaged as leading woman. Before the rehearsal was over the actor was desperately in love, and during the season it was remarked that his lovemaking scenes were most realistic.

Mr. Bramwell pressed his suit ardently, but Miss Seligman refused to wed. The actor kept up his wooing through the years since then, and when the actor yesterday morning returned for a brief vacation, he called on Miss Seligman and in an hour the time of the marriage had been set, the minister engaged and the guests invited.

Following the wedding the couple will go to the seashore, after which they will make a brief tour of European cities.

PLAY BALL! SAY ALL THE BABIES

Doctors and Dentists' Game Friday Means Pure Milk for Little Ones.

The Doctors and the Dentists will play Friday at American League Park for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. They will stack their medicine cases under the grandstand and cavort to the gleeful chuckles of patients who have seen them only in their broadcloth and wise looks. To see this game means unadulterated fun for the spectators and unadulterated milk for the tenement babies. The charity game last year was marred by rain, but a temporary restraining order has been secured from the United States Court, and will be served on Weathermaker Bowie the moment he is seen tinkering raound the rain pots.

Umpire Cahill has ordered a steel-riveted cage to protect himself from the compounds, medical and otherwise, that may come his way.

Mr. Hedges was heard to say, when not talking for publication, that the "brother-in-law battery" needed a rest, and that he would watch the work of Drs. Bailey and Gibson, and extractors Tice and Brady. He has also announced that should anyone break the leg of the Post-Dispatch Weather Bird in more than one place, Hemphill and Stone may be set down temporarily.

Friends and patients of Drs. Davis, Biering, Muench, White, Parish and Flaherty are already beginning to fear they will miss them at the next stork levee or at the periodical tooth ulceritus.

Dr. Bailey, in an exclusive tip to the Post-Dispatch, announces that he will spring two brand-new things in the way of pitched balls. He has named them the "chloroform ball" and the "menthol drop."

Dr. "Baby" Tice has perfected a laughing gas ball. He describes it as much more scientific than a Harry Orchard bomb. It is loaded with natural gas. The sudden break in the curve causes it to explode at the plate The batter is overcome, and in the reviving process, fans out every time. Dr. Tice says they can't get away from it.

Dr. Ude of South St. Louis, though he weighs 251 pounds, has Harry Bay and Harry Niles looking as though they were tied to the post when it comes to sprinting. Lajoie has been looking him over. It is noticed that he hasn't been playing Bay lately.

Dr. Corley, whose Titus-like whiskers out-Titus Titus, will be on hand. He will wear them in an eelskin bag, but promises to unravel them once as a special attraction, no extra admission being charged. It is for the babies, anyhow, he says.

Dr. Gibson has had his glove filled with gum arabic and tanglefoot, and promises no passed balls.

The doctors will wear their handsome new gray suits, which Cleveland plagiarized. They have never been beaten and modestly assert they can't be—a strong tip for the hand bookers, for they say the dentists have followers who will gamble the last red on them.

The official lineup follows:

| Physicians— | Dentists— |
|---|---|
| Gibson c. | Brady c. |
| Bailey p. | Carson 2b. |
| R. C. Harris 1b. | Owsley ss. |

Admission to the great game will be 25 cents. Tickets will be on sale at most drug stores and at the gate.

CATHOLIC CHURCH RETAINS F. J. WADE

St. Louis Financier Has Charge of Financial Affairs in Philippines.

Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., has been appointed fiscal representative of the Catholic Church in the Philippines to settle disputes with the Government in which titles to lands, bank stocks and other properties to the value of $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 are involved.

Archbishop Harty, who was formerly a priest in St. Louis, is now in complete control of the interests of the Catholic Church in the Philippine Islands. When he was here recently he selected Mr. Wade as his representative to effect a settlement with the Government.

The Spanish-Philippine Bank, which is largely owned and controlled by the Catholic Church, is one of the principal sources of trouble. The Government desires to abridge its powers, and recently by taxing its circulating notes compelled their retirement. The bank was founded in 1823 and has enjoyed many privileges not granted to banks in this country.

There are also questions involving the San Jose College, a heavily endowed and powerful institution, the Insane Asylum and the San Lazaro Hospital. Under Spanish control the church and state were so closely allied that it was difficult to define the limits of each. Secretary Taft is endeavoring to separate the church from the state, and in doing so questions have arisen as to what the church is entitled to. Archbishop Harty has placed these interests in Mr. Wade's hands, and he has made several trips to Washington recently to discuss them with the War Department.

BIG BREWERS TALK TRUST PLAN

Promoter of Combination Expects Definite Results Wednesday.

Representatives of the St. Louis breweries interested in the consolidation of their plants had a conference at the Planters Hotel Tuesday afternoon with local and Cleveland financiers. James S. Braily, the promoter, who is endeavoring to consolidate all the breweries outside of the St. Louis Brewing Association, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the deal would not be consummated Tuesday, but that he expected some definite action Wednes-

POST-DISPATCH'S RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

BUYING POWER LACKING IN THE STOCK MARKET

First Figures Wednesday Were Higher All Around but Were Lost in First Half Hour of the Session—Trading Is Light.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19, 12:30 p. m.—With only a fair volume of sales, 167,000, to noon, the market was dull after the decline that followed the opening. Just before noon there was a slight rally back to the opening and after 12 o'clock prices again were on the decline and trading dull.

NEW YORK, June 19, 9:30 a. m.—The stock market ignored the adverse influences that have ruled the openings recently and Wednesday opened ¼ to ⅜ of a point better than shown by the finals of Tuesday.

The same discordant note that has been sounded in the industrial stock market was heard again Wednesday when the big corporation stocks opened lower Wednesday—a fraction of a point—when all of the news obtainable was of a bullish character. The favorable forecast of future activity of the steelmakers as indicated by the orders for steel rails already booked well up into 1908, as well as the sum of the two last quarterly reports, showing the record for earnings and volume of business by the U. S. Steel Corporation and the further strong reports by the steel and wood car-making companies, all fail in sustaining the industrial shares.

The only cause of this condition according to stock market sources, is that investors are not active now, and that any disposition to invest while shares are cheap is curbed by the near approach of July payments. After that period has passed it is believed that prices will advance.

The opening Wednesday and the first half hour of the market developed only a lower tendency, all leaders of rail and industrial stocks losing their early gains.

COTTON.

(Francis Bros. & Co., 214 N. Fourth st.)
ST. LOUIS, June 19.

The market at Liverpool this morning displays strength, opening sales being made at an advance over yesterday of 7 to 8 points. To have agreed with the closing figures in New York of yesterday, 2 to 3 points higher would have been sufficient. At 12:15 (Liverpool time) the tone of market was called quiet, with prices, however, at a net advance of 7¼ to 8¼ points on near months and 7 to 7½ points up on far months.

Liverpool spots were 8 points higher; middling quoted at 7.16d. Sales fair; 6000 bales, of which 5000 were American cotton. Imports, 14,000, all American cotton.

The New York market today opened at a higher level, first sales being from 9 to 12 points better than the final prices of yesterday. Opening sales as follows: July, 11.70c; Oct., 11.56c; Dec., 11.55c; Jan., 11.67c.

Showers and thunderstorms generally predicted over Eastern and central sections of the cotton belt, and over part of the Western belt today and tomorrow.

WHEAT FUTURES SCORED GOOD GAIN

Damage Reports From Northwest Cause Buying—Weather Good, Cables Disappointing.

OTHER GRAINS WERE FIRM

Unfavorable Reports on Corn Plentiful—Fresh Grains in Good Demand.

Local wheat, after an easier opening, was bid up steadily, Wednesday, and the close was ¾@⅞c higher for the day. July wheat closed ⅝@⅞c higher, at 90⅝@93½c bid, September ¾@⅞c higher at 92¼@92⅜c sellers and December option ⅞@1c higher at 94⅜c bid.

Liverpool cables closed unchanged on spot wheat and ⅝d lower on the futures. Paris closed unchanged to ½d higher on wheat and unchanged to 1½d lower on flour. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged, Berlin wheat ⅝c lower and Budapest wheat ¼c higher.

The local market was active throughout and prices moved rapidly in a good range. There was a good volume of trading in the pit.

The growing weather in this country is fine and advices from most sections report good progress under the result favorable conditions. This, with the poor response of Liverpool and other foreign markets to our advance of Tuesday caused an easier opening. Initial offerings were rather heavy, and July option opened ¼c to ⅝c lower at 89⅝c to 85¼c, and declined to 89c, and September opened ½c lower at 91c, and went as low as 90⅞c. When the low points were reached, however, a good demand, plainly from the commission houses and shorts turned up and prices recorded and scored a sharp advance.

The incentive to buying was damage reports from the Northwest, and many of the traders are expecting a green bug scare in the spring wheat territory, as green bugs and wire worms were reported in abundance, though doing no harm as yet. Little long wheat was apparent and the shorts were good buyers, July wheat advancing to 90½c, and September 92¼c. Some scattered profit-taking late in the day brought prices down a fraction from the extreme advance, but a recovery was made just before the end and the close was practically at the high point. July dipped to 90c and closed at 90⅝@90½c bid, and September sagged to 92@92¼c and closed at 92¼c@92⅜c asked.

There was a good demand for cash wheat and prices were firmer. Primary receipts of wheat were 456,235 bu, against 299,485 bu last year, and shipments were 380,955 bu, against 111,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 33,000 bu, against 5000 bu last year, and shipments were 51,515 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 394,000 bu.

Corn was in good demand. The strength in wheat caused some firmness early in the day, and damage reports especially from Missouri and Iowa, were plentiful. Trading was on a good scale, and the close was ⅜c higher for the day. July option opened ⅛c higher at 51½c, and advanced to 52⅛c, the close. September corn opened ⅛@¼c lower at 51⅝@51¾c, advanced to 52⅜c, and closed

Cash corn prices ruled firm under a good demand. Primary receipts of corn were 1,039,550 bu, against 531,400 bu last year, and shipments were 657,180 bu, against 276,000 bu last year. Local receipts were 171,600 bu, against 20,900 bu last year, and shipments were 90,240 bu. Corn clearances were 208,000 bu.

Corn was quiet and firm, with few features. The strength in other grains caused a good demand, and the close was ⅜@1c higher for the day. July oats was inactive and was bid for ¾c higher at 44c and September opened ⅛c higher at 36⅞@37c and advanced to and closed at 37⅜c.

The cash oats market was quiet, but prices were somewhat higher. Receipts of oats at all primary points were 412,-711 bu, against 483,530 bu last year, and shipments were 427,364 bu, against 862,-000 bu last year. Local receipts of oats were 92,800 bu, against 51,700 bu last year, and shipments were 104,375 bu. Oats clearances for the day were 23,-000 bu.

Cash wheat was in strong demand at both Minneapolis and Chicago. In the latter market all the offerings were wanted and at good prices.

Following are the Northwestern car lots: Minneapolis, 213, against 232 last year; Duluth, 30, against 15 last year. Total, 249, against 247 last year.

FLOUR—Receipts were 9700 bbls.; shipments, 6060 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $3.40@4.60; straight, $4.10@4.30; extra fancy, $3.75@4.00 in wood; low to medium grades, in jute, $2.60@3.10; hard jute sacks, patents, $4.05@4.30; straight at $3.80@4; clear at $2.90@3.30; low grade at $2.40@2.70; spring patents at $4.55@4.70 in jute.

HAY—Receipts, 155 tons local and 220 tons through; shipments, 480 tons. Quote timothy hay, choice, $20@21; No. 1, $18@20; No. 2, $16@18; No. 3, $11@14. ## FINANCIAL.

Chairman Harry Rein of the St. Louis Stock Exchange starts on a short vacation to Arkansas Wednesday. A. D. Grant, secretary of the Exchange, will preside during the chairman's absence.

Messrs. George H. Burr & Co., commercial paper brokers, 304-5-6 Security Building, report local money: Indorsed bills receivable, 4 to 6 months, 5½ per cent; high-grade and single-name paper, 4 to 6 months, 5½ to 6 per cent; other names, not so well known, 6 per cent on first-class security. Money market steady; demand for money continues good.

Call money opened on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday at 2¾ per cent.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings for Wednesday, $9,994,013; last week, $11,072,071. Balances for today, $725,917; last week, $1,152,745. Decrease clearings, $1,128,053; decrease balances, $427,728.

Within the past few years St. Louis has become a much more important center as regards foreign exchanges. Hence the present exports of gold, and the fluctuations in the rates for international remittances, causes much interest in this market at the present. Several of the large national banks and at least one large trust company are prominently identified with the daily operations in exchanges, and as the cotton season approaches, the prominence of this point is bound to be emphasized in this respect.

FAT MEN LACK STAYING POWER

They Lose Two Baseball Games to Leans in Last Innings.

In the second game of the series for the baseball championship of the Ice-Water League of East St. Louis, the Leans repeated their victory over the Fats of the East St. Louis Retail Liquor Dealers' Association by a score of 20 to 17 at Alta Sita Park. In both games played so far, the Fats were far in the lead until the final innings, but when they "blowed up" the Leans made a spurt and batted out a victory over the tired Fats.

In the sixth inning the score was 12 to 3 in favor of the Fats and they were running easy. Frank Furey and Frank Wyant of the Leans declared they were sick, caused by over-indulgence in ice-water under the torrid atmospheric conditions, and retired. Two men took their places, being introduced as bartenders. The Fats say they later found that they had been handed a "package" of ringers, and that the new men had formerly played with the Belleville Clerks' team.

In the next three innings the Leans made 17 runs, while the Fats could get only five men across the plate. Umpire John Gerth was severely criticized by the Fats who insisted that they were entitled to consideration on account of the top-heavy score in their favor during more than half of the game. They demanded leniency during the tiresome closing innings, but Umpire Gerth gave them the frozen stare.

LOCAL STOCKS QUIET; FIRM

Slightly Renewed Activity in Bond Sales Attracts Some Attention —Prices Fair.

TRUST STOCKS ARE LOWER

Kansas City Telephone Stock and Bonds Decline in Early Session, Then Recover.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange operations at the Wednesday forenoon session continued dull as to the volume of transactions.

There was a renewal of activity in the bond list, the par value of bonds sold being $6000 and the price being firm to ⅛c higher for traction 4s and a fraction easier for Missouri Edison 5 per cents.

A development not altogether unexpected was the decline in the stock of the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. on sales to 117, but the selling was light.

Another feature of the session was the re-entry to the market of Bank of Commerce stock, which sold in a small way easier at 262¾.

Kansas City Home Telephone stock was easier on sales at 65¾, with the close at 65¾ bid asked.

KERENS SAID TO OWN THE "TIMES"

Kansas City Dispatch Says That He Has Obtained Control of New Paper.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—Since the first of this year, R. C. Kerens of St. Louis, worth $50,000,000, has been interesting himself in newspapers. Early last winter he made a cash offer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. When the owners refused to sell he became the principal owner of the St. Louis Times, which began business in April. Meanwhile Kerens himself had gone to Europe. He came home late in May and while in New York on his way home bought a controlling interest in the New York Mail and Express and put his son, Vincent Kerens, in charge.

"I have gone into the newspaper business since I saw you last," he said to a reporter today. "Of course, I am interested in politics, but I don't know anything about the game except, perhaps, to help some of my friends."

Mr. Kerens showed a copy of his new St. Louis paper and called attention to an editorial advocating an extensive revision of the tariff.

"Before the Republican National Convention has made the platform," he said, "no one Republican ought to try to say what the platform should be, but each individual Republican can say what the platform should contain. For my part, I am for tariff revision all around, but the tariff ought to be revised by its friends. I am this kind of a stanpatter: I believe in protection, but the tariff schedules are old and ought to be thoroughly revised."

"The report is preposterous," said John Schroers, when shown the Kansas City dispatch. "The St. Louis Times is owned and controlled by two men, Edward L. Preetorius and John Schroers, as are all the other newspapers of the German-American Press Association. Mr. Kerens has nothing to do with any of them."

EDITOR OF THE MAIL DENIES RICHARD KERENS CONTROLS IT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Henry L. Stoddard, editor of the Mail, denied this morning that Richard Kerens of St. Louis had bought control of the Mail.

"I own a two-thirds interest in the Mail and it is not for sale to Mr. Kerens or anyone else. Mr. Kerens and I are close friends of 20 years' standing and before he invested in the St. Louis newspaper he discussed the project with me; but he has not obtained control of the Mail, and cannot."

GIRL TIRED OF TATTLING, ENDS LIFE WITH ACID

Adele Paust, Aged 16, Had to Care for Family of Seven.

SAYS FATHER HAS WISH

In Pathetic Farewell Note She Calls Herself "Black Sheep."

The habit, common to most children, of tattling on their brothers and sisters seems to have been the cause of 16-year-old Adele Paust committing suicide. She died at her home, 2247 Montgomery street, Wednesday morning, after drinking two ounces of carbolic acid.

Adele was the oldest of seven children, four boys and three girls. While her mother was busy with the housework she looked after her brothers and sisters. When she chastised them they would meet their father at the front gate and tell him about it.

When Adele was found unconscious in her room Monday this note lay on her dresser:

"Dear Papa: Good-by. Think of me when I am gone. I hope you won't have to worry any more about me. I guess you've got your wish now. I was the black sheep of the family, but I won't be any more.

Nothing Now to Tell.

"Good-by. Good-by to mamma and dear little brother, George, and all my brothers and sisters. They won't have anything to tell on me now. I hope you are glad. I guess you've got your wish."

Frank Paust, the faher, says he is at a loss to know what the girl meant by saying "I guess you've got your wish."

Weeping, he said, Wednesday: "She was the pet of the family and I never knew that she was dissatisfied."

Where the girl bought the acid is not known. The label was rubbed from the bottle.

Leavnig her brothers and sisters at play on the back porch she went into her room. Her mother found her there an hour later.

Dr. B. T. Benson of 2134 Benton street at first thought that he could save Adele's life. When he found that there was no chance for her recovery he reported the case to the police Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Paust at first refused to admit policemen to the house. She says that she believed her daughter would recover and she regarded the attempt at suicied as a family affair.

INJUNCTION TAKEN OFF LID

Police Can Now Close Brewery Workers' Club.

The temporary injunction obtained by the Brewery Workers' Club, Thirteenth street and Chouteau avenue, restraining the Police Department from interfering with the operations of the club on Sundays, has been lifted.

It was suspended by Circuit Judge Allen Tuesday, following the application of the club for a continuance of the case, which had been set for hearing on its merits. The application was accompanied by an affidavit that one of the officers of the club, an important witness, is out of the country.

Judge Allen granted the continuance, but taking the view that due diligence had not been employed by the plaintiffs, because his deposition had not been taken, the temporary injunction was suspended. Further orders will depend upon further developments.
